Post-Flu Shot Deaths Top 30

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — The death of a Mason, Ohio dentist after receiving a swine flu immunization shot sparked cancellation of the Warren County shot program and a dispute between coroner and public health authorities about the safety of the program.

"The federal government takes products off the market that kill mice but not human beings, like saccharin, but here they are in a crash immunization program and they aren't sure it's safe," said Warren County Coroner Dr. Ralph Young.

The controversy was sparked by the death Wednesday morning of Dr. Alvin C. Erbeck, 74, less than a day after he received a shot at Montgomery, Ohio, in adjacent Hamilton County.

"You can't get flu from a flu shot," said Cincinnati Health Commissioner Dr. Arnold Leff, adding that the death was reported to the National Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. Leff said, however, Hamilton County will continue with its program. He said more than 65,000 elderly had been immunized with no ill effects.

The Warren County Board of Health, after hearing Dr. Young, cancelled its immunization program indefinitely. It was set to start Friday.

"It is my position," said Dr. Young, "Dr. Erbeck died of acute gastroenteritis. It is of a viral nature and I can't say yes or no if there is any danger from the vaccine. National health authorities can't agree on this and I think there are too many unknown factors not to warrant caution," said Dr. Young, who said he has now decided against getting a shot himself. He said "I will also advise my patients against it. I believe it is my duty as a public official to warn the public as well."

ROUNDTOWN

VOLUNTEERS to solicit for the Pickaway County Community Fund are needed in Walnut, Circleville, and Madison Townships.

Persons who wish to donate a part of their time are asked to call Mary Carter, captain, county east division, at 474-7024.

THE deadly mosquito spraying machine will be attacking those pesky little varmints on Friday. The sprayer will cover areas in Circleville, Logan Elm Village, Jefferson Addition, Northwood Park, Gold Cliff Park, Circleville and Pickaway Twps.

The Warren County Board of Health cancelled its immunization plans pending an autopsy on the death of Dr. Erbeck which will be performed by the office of Hamilton County Coroner Dr. Frank Cleveland. It will take about two weeks, Dr. Young said.

"I see a man, who was in normal health, die 24 hours after receiving the immunization. I don't think we as public officials can not fail to warn the public against taking the shots until this is proven nonrelated," Young said.

"I won't stand behind any smoke screen. This man died of a viral infection, exact cause undetermined, and I'm waving the red flag saying the immunization program should go slow."

Warren County Medical Director Dr. Ray E. Simendinger said he felt delay was "the only prudent thing to do." However, he said "I don't think the Mason, Ohio death will substantiate anything concerning a connection with the swine flu. I feel we should hold up though, not because of a personal concern, but because we need to know if Dr. Erbeck had any past difficulties and we need to solidify our position."

Dr. Young said Erbeck's relatives reported the victim had symptoms within three hours of taking the shot. These included diarrhea, chills, vomiting, headaches and fever.

Three of nine states that suspended the swine flu inoculation program have decided to resume giving shots after tests revealed no evidence that the vaccine caused the deaths of elderly persons.

But several areas reported sharp declines in the number of persons showing up Wednesday for the free inoculations. The program is designed to reach up to 200 million Americans.

There was no hesitation at the White House, however, where President Ford's personal physician, William Lukash, said the 63-year-old President would receive his shot today.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford scheduled the shot

Ford, Carter Seek New York Electoral Votes

By DAVE RILEY
Associated Press Writer

New York, with 41 electoral votes, is shaping up as a prime target of both major party presidential candidates as Jimmy Carter heads into the state on the heels of a two-day visit by President Ford.

Carter was flying to New York today after spending a quiet two days at his home in Plains, Ga. It was the beginning of a three-day trip in which the Democratic presidential nominee also will touch down in Detroit, Kansas City, Mo., and Cincinnati, Youngstown and Columbus, Ohio.

Ford returned home to Washington on Wednesday night after swinging through New York City's middle-class suburbs. There he voiced unabashed criticism of Carter and promised that a Ford administration will show "compassion for the American taxpayer."

But there was potential trouble awaiting Ford in Washington.

It was reported that the special Watergate prosecutor will decide this week whether to look into claims that Ford discussed with members of Richard Nixon's White House ways of blocking an early investigation of the Watergate scandal.

And the Washington Post reported in today's editions that the Democratic National Committee is preparing to file a complaint with the Federal Election Commission about Ford's alleged use of aides and Cabinet members, who earn government salaries, for campaign duties.

Both vice presidential candidates, Democratic Sen. Walter Mondale and Republican Sen. Bob Dole, were heading for Houston, where they meet Friday night in a nationally televised debate.

Ford, at each stop on Wednesday, told his audiences that Carter wants to raise their taxes but that a Ford administration will cut taxes. At White Plains, N.Y., Ford said, "I say the middle-income taxpayer is already overtaxed, overburdened and underrepresented."

And he signed a bill extending the federal revenue-sharing program for 3½ years at a projected cost of $25.5 billion. The money goes to state and local governments.

In a statement issued in Plains, Carter said, "I am pleased that Mr. Ford has decided to sign the bill." But, he said, "I do regret that so little has been done by this administration to ease the plight of our cities and to help restore a true federalism in our system of government."

He said Ford had vetoed legislation that would have provided needed aid to cities and states.

Meanwhile, the Ford administration announced an increase in the production loan rates for wheat and feed grains after months of rejecting farmers' pleas for such increases.

There were indications the move could aid the Ford campaign in grain-growing states where the race with Carter is close, but Agriculture Department officials denied any political motivation.

Carter had issued a statement Monday calling for such increases to help farmers get loans they say they can't get in sufficient amounts under current market conditions. Acting Secretary of Agriculture John A. Knebel denied that the raises were "in response" to Carter's plea.

Meanwhile, Reps. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., and John Conyers, D-Mich., both members of the House committee that voted to recommend impeaching Nixon, have asked Special Watergate Prosecutor Charles Ruff to look into the possibility that Ford lied at hearings held before he was confirmed as Nixon's vice president.

And Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., chairman of the House Banking Committee, also called on Ruff to look into the matter.

The question Ruff is being asked to answer is whether Ford, as House GOP leader, acted at the behest of Nixon's White House when he helped stop an investigation of Watergate money in the fall of 1972.

Ford, who has acknowledged fighting such a probe, denied under oath during his vice presidential confirmation hearings that he had done so at the request of White House aides.

However, former Nixon aide John Dean said Richard K. Cook, a White

Bolivia Jet Crash Toll Tops 100

SANTA CRUZ, Bolivia (AP) — Bolivia began three days of national mourning today for more than 100 of its people killed when a chartered American cargo jet plowed through a street crowd and into a group of young soccer players at practice.

The three American crewmen of the Boeing 707 were also killed.

At least 100 Bolivians were hospitalized, a government spokesman said, "and there are injured who are hovering between life and death."

He said at least half the victims were children.

The spokesman reported 84 bodies, including those of the Americans, had been identified.

Officials said it was the worst aviation disaster in Bolivia's history. President Hugo Banzer flew to Santa Cruz, 350 miles southeast of La Paz, ordered three days of national mourning and said he would lead the funeral procession Thursday morning.

The four-engine jet was owned by Jet Power Inc. of Miami and was chartered to a Bolivian firm, Lloyd Aerero Boliviano. After delivering oil well machinery and other cargo from Houston, it had just taken off empty at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday from the airport on the edge of the city when it faltered.

"People at the scene said they heard an explosion before it fell and saw fire in one of the motors on the left wing," a Bolivian air force officer told reporters.

The plane clipped the tops off several big trees, demolished a corner of the Julio Gutierrez primary school, mowed down a line of people buying kerosene from a street vendor on Avenida de Ejercito, and crashed into a practice field outside the municipal soccer stadium where a number of people were watching two boys' teams scrimmaging.

The pupils at the school were home for lunch, but the caretaker, his wife and three children were in the building and were killed, an air force official said.

Another official said about 50 people were killed in the kerosene line, about 40 were killed on the soccer field, and eight boys were suffocated in a locker room of the stadium by smoke from the burning plane.

Debris and bodies were strewn across the soccer field.

"All those people were destroyed, burned, mutilated," a witness said. "It was like a scene from Dante. There were screams from the burned people."

Jet Power Inc. said the three crewmen were Capt. Charles Baldwin, a former airline pilot; first officer Lee Marsh; and flight engineer Leslie Bennett. All were from the Miami area.

An air force officer said the plane's instruments indicated that one of the engines on the left wing failed. The "black box" flight recorder was recovered and turned over to investigators.

Ex-State Treasurer Don Ebricht Dies

PICKERINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The burial of Don H. Ebricht, a state treasurer for 12 years and a candidate for governor in 1950, is scheduled for today. He was 74.

Ebricht, who died Monday night in a Cleveland hospital, was treasurer from 1938 to 1950 when he ran for governor, but was defeated by Democrat Frank Lausche.

Following the loss, he joined the Union Bank of Commerce in Cleveland as a vice president, later serving as senior vice president until he retired in 1967. Ebricht was associated with a Cleveland investment firm after he retired.

Weather

Mostly sunny today with a high in the upper 60's. Turning cloudy tonight with a low in the middle 40s. Cloudy Friday with a chance of showers and temperatures in the low 70s. Chances of precipitation, near zero today, 20 per cent tonight and 30 per cent Friday. Wednesday's high was 74 with a low during the night of 35.

NOT JUST RIGHT — Spray painting crews were summoned back to Circleville's southend Water tower to re-do brown shading that is supposed to make the 1,000,000 gallon tank look like a pumpkin. The painters are to meet today with the Marion, Ohio, artist who authored the original design in an attempt to "get it right," according to Chuck Taylor, city Public Utilities Director. Apparently, the brown shaded lines on the side were too small to be effective from Route 23, and a brown shaded circle around the bottom of the tank was not authentic pumpkin.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, hesitating after the sharp swings of recent days.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dropped about 3 points in the early going, but gainers took a 4-3 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers said traders seemed uncertain whether Wednesday's rally, sharp as it was, had firmly reversed the downtrend of the previous two weeks.

Today's early prices included Philadelphia Electric, unchanged at 17½; Lawter Chemicals, down ¼ at 8½, and Continental Oil, up ¼ at 36½.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average jumped 15.95 to 948.30 after having lost 81.78 in the 11 prior sessions.

Advances outnumbered declines by about a 5-2 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index rose .64 to 54.51.

Big Board volume reached 21.69 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained .27 to 98.23.

As Actress, Liz Ray Makes Good Typist

ST. CHARLES, Ill. (AP) — Elizabeth Ray made her stage debut playing a movie sex goddess with a pink towel as part of her wardrobe. Some critics thought another towel should have been thrown in after the first act.

Miss Ray, who starred in the Washington sex scandals last June, launched a hoped-for acting career Wednesday night in a 21-year-old comedy that was racy for its time — "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter."

The 33-year-old former secretary was the one who brought down Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, by claiming that he placed her on his congressional payroll as a typist when her real duties were sexual.

After the performance, she confided in her dressing room that she had been very nervous in the first act.

"If you were on a rubbing table with nothing on but a towel, you would be nervous, too," she said. "But after the first act, my nervousness seemed to wear off."

"Most of all I was afraid I would lose that towel, and also 70 per cent of my lines were in that first act."

Miss Ray had the fringe benefit of a fine supporting cast as she tripped almost birdlike across the small stage of Pheasant Run Theater, 40 miles west of Chicago.

Several times she flubbed her lines, and at other times she was barely audible. One of the biggest laughs from the curious playgoers came when she sat down and tried to use a typewriter.

The theater was far from a sellout, with only about two-thirds of the 450 seats filled.

Miss Ray throughout had trouble keeping her long blonde hair out of her eyes. And she brought another laugh when she got off the rubbing table and said in her high, little voice, "I'm just terrible in bed. Everybody says so."

One critic was heard to mutter, "She should have stood in bed."

Miss Ray's role as Rita Marlowe was created for the late Jayne Mansfield about a blonde sex symbol movie star who fancies herself a deep thinker. Miss Ray seemed to sum it up several days ago in an interview when she said, "Without skills, it's hard to make a living."

The play is scheduled for a one-month run.

Aussies Hold U.S. Trial; Sailor Freed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trial was held on American soil, but the judge wore a powdered white wig, and opposing lawyers addressed each other as "my learned friend."

And before announcing their verdict, the jurors strapped on swords.

The occasion was the first time since the American Revolution that a trial has been conducted under the laws of the British Commonwealth in this country.

The defendant was a 19-year-old Australian sailor, Kevin Clark. He was accused of raping a 21-year-old Baltimore woman.

Gathered under the Southern Hemisphere stars of the Australian Union Jack, Clarke and the members of the court stood stiffly at attention when the seven judges returned with their verdict Wednesday at a courtroom in the Washington Navy Yard.

The clerk took a single sheet of paper from the hand of the military court president and handed it to the judge advocate. "Not guilty," he intoned.

"I'm going to Australia to see my parents tomorrow," a relieved Clarke said. "They've been worried about me."

The Australian Navy spent more than $100,000 to try Clarke under the rules of his homeland, flying in judges, lawyers and other court personnel for the eight-day trial.

The trial was the first held under the 1944 Friendly Foreign Forces Act, which permits foreign governments to hold trials under their own laws on U.S. soil.

Clarke was in Baltimore last July as part of the Tall Ships Bicentennial celebration when he met the woman who accused him of rape. He denied the charge, and his counsel said the woman's testimony was inaccurate and contradictory.

A physician who examined the woman after the incident said he found no evidence of sexual intercourse.

The seven judges who acted as jurors took 90 minutes to reach their verdict.

Ohio University Enrollment Rises

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University reports enrollment on the Athens campus has increased for the first time in five years. Preliminary figures place enrollment at 13,809, up 5 per cent from the 1975-76 school year.

Provost Neil Bucklew said the most encouraging part of the report showed a 16 per cent increase in enrollment of freshmen.

CBS Chief Suddenly Quits Post

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

Just 15 months after his powerful boss said he'd be "greatly pleased to have him as my successor," Arthur R. Taylor, 41, abruptly quit his $480,000-a-year job as president of CBS Inc.

Industry observers were surprised by his unexpected decision Wednesday to leave the billion-dollar conglomerate he's headed since 1972. He disclosed neither his future plans nor reasons for leaving. CBS declined to say why he resigned.

But it said his decision in no way involved CBS-TV's poor ratings this season or the controversial "family viewing" concept for early-evening shows he initiated and the networks adopted in September 1975.

A knowledgeable industry source attributed Taylor's departure to a personality clash between the handsome young executive and his strong-willed boss, CBS board chairman William S. Paley, 75.

Paley went to great lengths in July 1975 to rebut an article in "New York" magazine that mentioned "a strong rumor" that he and Taylor "aren't hitting it off" together.

"Absolute nonsense," Paley said in a statement then. "As I have said before and as I have been quoted in the press, Arthur Taylor and I have a very good relationship and I would be greatly pleased to have him as my successor."

Paley, declining to comment on Taylor's sudden resignation, praised him in a statement Wednesday, and tersely added:

"We understand and appreciate his decision to make other plans for his future. We wish him the very best."

CBS said Taylor, an investment banker who rose to executive vice president at International Paper Co. before joining CBS, turned in his resignation shortly before a CBS board meeting Wednesday.

The board immediately replaced him with John D. Backe, 44, since early 1973 president of CBS' publishing group.

NEW YORK (AP) — In the bottle of RealLemon on the grocer's shelf is contained not just a widely used flavoring but a marketing drama that has shaken the manufacturer and stunned some antitrust and trademark lawyers.

It might change marketing techniques too, because a Federal Trade Commission judge has ruled that Borden, Inc., owner of RealLemon, must license others to produce the re-constituted lemon juice product.

The decision, which is being appealed to the full commission, is viewed by Borden as "an unlawful confiscation of a valuable property right and is beyond the power of the commission."

The judge, it maintains, doesn't understand the operation of the market place or the function of trademarks. But the administrative law judge, Daniel Hanscom, didn't arrive at his decision easily; it totaled 170 pages.

Borden insists that in RealLemon it offers customers a high quality product, and that its strong position in the market is derived from the respect and allegiance of those customers.

Hanscom, in his decision, of Sept. 3, didn't see it that way. He found that Borden unlawfully maintained a monopoly position in the processed lemon juice industry, a position that sometimes reached 90 per cent of the market.

In doing so, he rejected Borden's contention that in measuring the market fresh lemons should be included along with processed lemon juice, a position that would have reduced Borden's relative position.

Hanscom found factors that he said were "strongly demonstrative of monopoly power," one of them being "the overwhelming dominance of the RealLemon brand, and its acceptance over the years by the trade and the public as the premium brand."

Viewing that conclusion, other food marketers are wondering if widespread acceptance, traditionally considered a measurement of success, now might be considered a marketing offense.

Further observations by the judge perhaps added to that uncertainty. Demonstrating monopoly, he suggested, were:

—"The concomitant relative impotence and small market share of competing brands except possibly Golden Crown recently in some metropolitan areas;"

—"The premium price commanded by the RealLemon brand;"

—"The competitive necessity for other lemon juice brands to sell at substantially lower retail prices on peril of losing shelf space and being forced from the market;"

—"The exceptionally high profitability of RealLemon lemon juice over the years amounting to three to four times the rate of return on assets realized by other firms in the ... industry group."

But Hanscom had other observations that tended to suggest that quality alone was not the reason for RealLemon success. Borden's marketing practices, he said, hindered, restrained and even prevented competition.

Among other things, he said, the company used promotional allowances to combat retail competition, special allowances to restrict sale of competitive products, and selective price cuts that left competitors unable to sell products above their costs.

Per Capita Income Zooms In Alaska

WASHINGTON (AP) — Good salaries paid to workers on the Alaskan oil pipeline apparently were a factor in catapulting Anchorage, Alaska, into second place among metropolitan areas ranked according to income, the government reports.

The figures, which cover 1974, are used by the government to determine an area's eligibility for income support programs, revenue-sharing and other federal aid.

According to the report released Tuesday, the Bridgeport-Stamford-Norwalk-Danbury area of Connecticut remains the nation's richest metropolitan area with an average annual personal income of $7,781 per capita, an increase of 9.1 per cent over 1973.

The average per capita income for Anchorage amounted to $7,159 for 1974, an increase of 22.9 per cent. It had been 14th among metropolitan areas in 1973. The Commerce Department, which released the figures, gave no explanation for the surge, but the change was said to reflect at least in part the start of work on the Alaskan pipeline and the relatively high pay for construction workers on the project.

McAllen-Pharr-Edinburg, Tex., took over from Laredo, Tex., as the metropolitan area in the survey with the lowest per capita personal income. McAllen ranked 261st at $2,857, an increase of 2.5 per cent over the previous year. Laredo moved ahead of McAllen with a per capita annual personal income of $2,960, an increase of 9.5 per cent over a year earlier.

The rankings do not take into account the differing costs of living around the country. In Anchorage and Stamford, for example, living costs are higher than they are in the McAllen area.

The Bridgeport area's income was 43 per cent above the national per capita personal income of $5,449, which had been reported earlier by the Commerce Department. The national average was an advance of 8.5 per cent over 1973.

Aside from Bridgeport and Anchorage, other areas in the top 10 for 1974 were Washington, D.C., with average annual per capita income of $7,102, up 9.4 per cent over 1973; Nassau-Suffolk, N.Y., $7,084, up 7.9 per cent; San Francisco-Oakland, $7,030, up 10.8 per cent; Newark, N.J., $6,861, up 9.7 per cent; Chicago, $6,780, up 10.1 per cent; New York, $6,668, up 9 per cent; West Palm Beach, Boca Raton, Fla., $6,622, up 6.5 per cent, and Reno, Nev., $5,620, up 3.6 per cent.

The only area to drop out of the top 10 from 1973 was Sarasota, Fla., where 1974 per capita income was $6,483, up 7.4 per cent.

Personal income consists of all wages, salaries, interest, dividends and other money received by individuals after deduction of Social Security taxes. Personal income tax deductions are not included.

Issue 6 On Nuclear Power Most Controversial

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — By far the most controversial ballot proposal, Issue 6 asks voters to decide whether legitimate questions still exist concerning the safety and economy of nuclear power.

California voters defeated a similar proposition by a 2-1 margin last June 8, the same day Ohioans went to the polls in the presidential primary.

The defeat of the nuclear issue came after a high-powered campaign waged by electric utilities and separate action by the California legislature to institute for the first time some state controls over nuclear energy.

Ohio's Issue 6 would require state legislative approval of safety standards, economy factors, insurance and handling of radioactive wastes at nuclear power plants used to generate electricity.

"It's really a moral problem, that's why scientists disagree," says a spokesman for Ohioans for Utility Reform (OUR), sponsor of the amendment.

"We feel the legislature should have the responsibility of making these value judgments. We say there are serious questions about the safety and economy of nuclear plants."

Mothers Association Will Meet At OSU

The Fall State Meeting for The Ohio State University Mothers Association will be held Oct. 30, at the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, 2400 Olentangy River Rd., Columbus, at 9:30 a.m. A tour of the new buildings on the oval and medical area is scheduled. Lunch will be served at noon by reservation only. Mrs. Donald Schorr, state president, will preside at the business meeting at 1:00 p.m. Faculty members from the Office of Dean of University College will have a discussion period and conduct a tour of Alumni House.

Membership in the association is open to mothers and guardians of any former or present student. Mothers not geographically located to permit active membership in an organized county chapter may become an associate member, order their luncheon reservation and membership card from Mrs. Thomas Bantz, membership chairman, 2764 Blackfriars N.W., Canton, O. 44708 by Oct. 26.

The State Association meetings are held on campus each year for all members and provide an opportunity to "up date" parents on the most recent developments at the university.

Any eligible mothers wishing to organize their county chapter can contact Mrs. Bantz.

Citizens for Safe, Lower Cost Electricity (CSLCE) is a utility-backed coalition of business, industry, labor and civic groups, not unlike the alliance that fought the California proposition.

A separate committee has been formed for the Ohio AFL-CIO which is against the nuclear issue but neutral on three other proposed constitutional amendments placed on the ballot by OUR.

The "citizens" contend that nuclear power has a proven safety record, is cheaper than other energy sources and offers job opportunities to Ohio workers.

"No other industry is as closely monitored and regulated (by the federal government) for safety," CSLCE says. "There has not been one death or even injury to any member of the public from nuclear related causes in any licensed U.S. nuclear power plant in the history of the nuclear industry."

Some 60 nuclear generating plants are in operation nationwide while the first two such facilities are nearing completion in Ohio.

Nuclear power plants used to generate electricity have no potential for explosion. The concern is over a possible "melt down," triggered by a failure in the cooling system of a reactor. The heat buildup could cause the reactor to rupture, sending radioactive gas into the atmosphere.

Antinuclear spokesmen talk about near misses at nuclear plants and the potential for disaster.

"If you are that scared and that hyper," says Eugene "Pete" O'Grady, chairman of the citizens electric group, "then you better fall into bed and all you have to worry about is a meteor falling on top of you."

According to a report prepared for the federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission, the odds are against a nuclear accident causing a heavy loss of life.

The report found a one in a million chance that an accident at any one plant in a single year would kill as many as 70 people, inflict acute radiation sickness on 170 others, and cause $2.7 billion worth of damage. An accident taking 3,300 lives is a billion to one shot, the report said.

Opponents of Issue 6, like Dr. Frank O'Hara, a nuclear engineer at Ohio State University, suggest that it would stop nuclear power before it even gets started in Ohio.

"The proposition, in effect, will shut down nuclear power in Ohio and can only result in shortages of electric power," O'Hara says.

Actually, supporters say, it would not affect the two plants already under construction, Zimmer on the Ohio River, southeast of Cincinnati, and Davis Besse 1, near Port Clinton. It would apply to seven other plants in preliminary stages or still on drawing boards.

The amendment would require statewide public hearings on the safe and economical operation of nuclear plants and subsequent legislative approval by simple majority before construction could begin. The California issue called for a two-thirds majority for legislative certification.

The Ohio amendment says a nuclear utility must have sufficient insurance to "fully compensate" victims of any damage caused by an atomic-powered plant. If sufficient insurance is not available, utilities could self-indemnify—that is, put the company's entire assets on the line against the possibility of a serious accident.

"I do not believe it is impossible for them to meet those conditions," says OUR spokesman Steve Sterrett. "If it is, then there is something wrong with nuclear power."

O'Hara cites statistics from the Atomic Industrial Forum for the first half of 1976 indicating electricity generated by nuclear power was substantially cheaper than coal or oil produced electricity.

"We have to make the people of Ohio understand how important this issue is to the state's future development," O'Hara says. "To ban nuclear energy means power shortages and brownouts as well as higher electric rates in the future."

A Page Of Opinion

Progressive Din

From the time the cave man first learned to create a spark by striking two stones together, man has been enveloping himself in an ever-increasing crescendo of sound. Until recent years, however, he hadn't particularly minded it.

Now much of the world seems to be caught up in a cacophony of sound which at times resembles a hammer mill competing with a squad of cymbal players. The traditional noisemaking vocations—riveters, press operators, foundry workers, pneumatic drillers—today are drowned out by the supernoises of modern civilization.

Jet aircraft and highly-amped music groups literally have launched noise beyond human endurance. The problem is, how do humans adapt themselves to these and other high intensity sounds which apparently are here to stay?

Otolologists (ear specialists) have conducted study after study which show definite damage to the hearing mechanism from sustained exposure to some commonplace noises.

Perhaps more dangerous than the hearing damage caused by contemporary noises is the effect on the nervous system. Researchers studying the full effects of noise pollution are becoming convinced one of the major conditioners of the in-temperate, nerves-on-edge, ulcerous urbanite is the constant din by which he is surrounded.

In the long run it may turn out that the partially deaf fellow who is forced to live in an environment polluted by noise is not as handicapped as he thinks.

Funt's More Candid

By PHYLLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK — "People have changed a lot in the last ten years," says Allen Funt, whose candid cameramen have been capturing the American people's faces and reactions on film for three decades.

"People don't take themselves as seriously as they used to," said Funt. "It's all part of the loosening of our moral inhibitions, I suppose."

"For example, it's always been our experience that the worst possible place to film a 'Candid Camera' segment was in front of a local movie theater on a weekday afternoon, because three-quarters of the people we'd get on film were those who shouldn't be there—kids playing hooky, salesmen goofing off, housewives who felt they should be home. The second worst place to film was the check-in counter at a motel, for obvious reasons."

Catching footage of Americans who happened to be "in the wrong place at the wrong time or with the wrong people" was traditionally a lost cause. They'd refuse to sign the necessary releases to put their pictures on the TV show.

he peels an orange, and he says 'Well, when I'm with my mother I do it like this, and when I'm visiting my father, I do it like he does.'

"You ask a simple question, which could have some funny answers, such as 'What foods are good for you?' - and the answers deal with what Mother serves, at home, and what Daddy orders on weekends when they go out. The kids are just dying to talk about these disturbances in their families, it's uppermost in their minds - and this happens in every economic level, especially here in New York. I feel, judging from the hundreds of children we've photographed this year, that the divorce-separation rate may be as high as 60 to 70 per cent in New York."

This is devastating for the children. And for the show. "It destroys so much of what we try to do," said Funt. "It's an overtone that takes away from the simplicity and clarity of the children interviews."

Funt's "Candid Camera," now in its 30th year on TV and syndicated on more than 100 stations, has achieved a high status outside the world of show business. Film clips from his vast library of programs are now being used as illustrative augmentation in the behavioral sciences by 20 universities, including Cornell, CUNY (City Univ. of N.Y.), Boston U., Carnegie-Mellon and Simmons College. In addition, actors and writers borrow "C.C." clips to study the reactions of people under stress or pressure, or to get an insight into character or just to listen to "street talk." Marlon Brando has visited Funt's library for years, and so did the late playwright Clifford Odets. Dustin Hoffman called only last week to see some film which might be helpful to him in formulating a new role in his mind.

"It's a way professionals can study very human mannerisms under a variety of circumstances," Funt explains. "They might see the same thing by sitting on a bus all day," but they haven't the time for busing, nor the patience to be mobbed by fans.

Beginning next January, Allen Funt is planning a change in "Candid Camera." "One of the shocking things I've realized, in looking back at the best of our shows, is how long each segment is, how slow it is. For the current mentality, it seemed we ought to speed up the pace: think of quicker ideas, shorter episodes. So we'll try it. Right now we have three episodes per half-hour show. We'll have five per show beginning this winter. I don't know if this is right or wrong - there are some people on the staff who say reality can't be hurried, that we'll miss the developing personalities of people. But I've got to try it. The country's pace is changing. If it isn't right, we can always go back."

In fact, right now Allen Funt is looking back - way, way back to 1944, and the show that preceded "Candid Camera." It was for radio, and was called "Candid Microphone," and he feels "Somehow it was richer in speech content than anything we do today. I'll never forget one 'Candid Microphone' we did with two little girls going to sleep. We planted a mike in the bed and listened in to their conversation when the lights were out. You couldn't do that kind of thing on TV. There was a lot of fussing and arguing back and forth, the smaller girl wanting to stay up and talk and the older one getting more and more impatient, stridently telling her to go to sleep. Then, finally, silence. You think they've finally dozed off, when the little girl's voice comes on again.

"'Marilyn,' she says timidly, 'do you love me, or do you hate me, or what?' Long pause. 'I hate you.' Longer pause, then the little girl's voice... 'Shut up!'"

Funt feels, wistfully, that we may be more verbose these days than we were then. "But not nearly as eloquent."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, Oct. 14, the 288th day of 1976. There are 78 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1066, Normans under William the Conqueror defeated the English at the Battle of Hastings.
On this date —
In 1644, the founder of Pennsylvania, William Penn, was born in London.
In 1890, the 34th president of the United States, Dwight Eisenhower, was born in Denison, Tex.
In 1933, Germany announced it would withdraw from the League of Nations.
In 1944, in World War II, British and Greek troops liberated Athens from German occupation forces.
In 1947, U.S. Air Force Captain Charles Yeager tested a rocket-powered research airplane in California and became the first person to fly faster than sound.
In 1964 the American black leader, Dr. Martin Luther King, was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize.
Ten years ago: An early fall blizzard swept over Wyoming and Eastern Colorado, isolating cities, blocking highways and leaving at least four people dead.
Five years ago: Dr. Earl Sutherland of Vanderbilt University won the Nobel Prize for Physiology and Medicine for his research on hormones.
One year ago: The Ford Administration said it had devised a plan to protect the rights of Americans while continuing effective intelligence operations.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is there any way to avoid the painful blocked sensation in the ears while making a descent in an airplane? It happens to me only once in a while, but when it does it is dreadful.

Miss R. Y., Maine

Dear Miss Y.:
The blocked ear sensation you complain of can occur during ascent as well as at the time of descent even in pressurized cabins.

The mechanism of the ear is such that a normal eardrum is kept in balance by the amount of air that enters the outer ear and the air that enters the middle ear by way of the eustachian tubes leading to it from the nose.

In most instances, people who do not have this experience regularly can attribute it to a cold, an allergy, or a sinus infection. Children with large adenoids that block the eustachian tubes are more prone to the problem.

Nose and throat doctors suggest that a nasal spray be used before the plane takes off and again before it begins to make its descent, usually 30 minutes before the expected time of arrival.

Chewing gum, forced yawning and swallowing can be helpful in preventing this painful blockage.

Generally an excellent rule is to try to avoid flying with an acute infection of the nose or throat.

I am a rather heavy drinker and have been told that I have chronic gastritis. Is alcohol the only cause of this stomach disease?

Mr. C.N., N.C.

Dear Mr. N.:
As the name implies, chronic gastritis is an inflammation, irritation, and sometimes an infection of the lining of the stomach. It is not difficult for you to appreciate the pain and discomfort that would follow placing some ordinary alcohol on an open skin wound.

Translate this to the irritation alcohol can cause to the delicate lining of the stomach, which already is abnormally sensitive. Spicy foods, tobacco, excess coffee and tea, and some drugs are other causes for the gastritis and the distressing discomfort associated with it.

It may not be necessary to give up all of these "indulgences" forever. Yet it certainly would be wise to embark on a regime of eating bland food at regular intervals while avoiding the known reasons for the irritation of the stomach.

It must be remembered that gastritis in an early and simple form can be controlled. When neglected, this converts into a chronic state and invites complications that can be severe. Face the fact that you have a problem and, after confrontation, solve it rather than delay treating it.

Laurelville News

By CELESTA HOY
332-3251

Death has again visited our community, taking Robert Reid, 62, of Rt. 2, Laurelville (Happy Hollow Road). He died in Berger Hospital on Sunday following an apparent heart attack at his home. The son of the late John and Nora Reid, he is survived by his wife, Ruth Stevens Reid, two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Linda) Fausnaugh of Laurelville Rt. 2, and Mrs. Robert (Jane) Harper of So. Bloomingville, eight grandchildren, one foster granddaughter, a sister, Mrs. Burnell Karshner, Rt. 2, Laurelville, three brothers, George and Warren both of Laurelville Rt. 2, and Boyd of Columbus. Funeral services were held on Wednesday at 2 p.m., in the Laurelville Church of God of which he was an active member. Burial in Green Summit cemetery, Adelphi under the direction of the Wellman-Reams Funeral Home of Laurelville.

The Women's Society of the Laurelville Trinity United Methodist Church met Oct. 7 at the church. Mrs. Maribelle Higgins was in charge of the program, the theme being "Home built around Faith, Love and Peace".

To open the meeting the group sang "For The Beauty of the Earth" followed by prayer by the Rev. Jacob Lehman. Mrs. Evelyn Ayers read a poem "Knee Deep in Autumn". Mrs. Barbara Blum and Mrs. Virginia Stinard sang "Jesus, Sweetest Name I Know".

Several of the ladies read the scripture verses pertaining to the rolls played by women of the Bible. A song "The Upper Room" was sung by Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Blum and Mrs. Stinard. Mrs. Ayers gave the closing prayer.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Stinard. Mrs. Blum joined the society. The turkey supper was the main topic of discussion. The committees were read and reminded of their various duties.

Those attending the meeting were—Rev. and Mrs. Lehman; Mrs. June Poling, Mrs. Mary Rose, Mrs. Dorothy McClelland, Mrs. Esther Sweepston, Mrs. Eleanor Bowers, Goldie Byers, Frances McClelland, Mrs. Jean West, Mrs. Marie Rice, Mrs. Doris Edwards, Mrs. Geneva Kempton, Mrs. Gladys Hedges, Margaret Chilcote, Mrs. Thelma Hinton and cousin Hattie Stanhope, Mrs. Stinard, Mrs. Ayers, Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Blum and Mrs. Debbie Dumm and children.

Lovely refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. Dumm and Mrs. Ayers. The tables were decorated with arrangements of fall flowers and a candle at each place setting.

Mrs. Connie Hart entertained with a party for her son Joey's 5th birthday on last Tuesday evening. Playmates helping him celebrate and bringing him gifts were: Rodney, Mike and Melissa Hart, Chris Shaw, Brian Dean, Shane, Shannon and Marty Karshner, Lori Shaw, Tabitha McNichols, Heather Stevenson, Corby Lee Jarvis, Tonya Ebert and Jody Baldwin.

Grownups present were Mrs. Linda Shaw, Mrs. Nancy Hart, Mrs. Cheryl Shaw, Mrs. Judy Jarvis, Kay Ebert, the hostess and Grandma Celesta.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brokaw of Rt. 56, south, hosted a family dinner on Sunday Oct. 3 honoring the birthdays of their twin sons Larry and Garry Brokaw. Present for the carry-in dinner were, the honored guests and their families; Mr. and Mrs. Don Brokaw and family; Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Brokaw and children; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Garrett (Sue Brokaw) and family; Mr. and Mrs. James Leach (Patty Brokaw) and son and Kay Brokaw Ebert.

A surprise miscellaneous shower was held on Oct. 4, at Hoover Restaurant honoring Mrs. Annabelle Jones Skaggs, recent bride of Ansel Skaggs of Circleville. Those attending were—Mrs. Opal Allen, Mrs. Margaret Johnson, Connie McCabe, Kathy Martin, Mrs. Donna Huston, Mrs. Jean Clay, Mrs. Liz Jones and Carrie and Lois Sweepston.

Mrs. Geneva Kempton would like to thank all friends and neighbors for acts of kindness during her mother's illness and at her death. Also for the lovely basket of flowers and the money donated in her memory to the Fairfield United Methodist Church of Fairfield, Virginia.

Johnny Swackhammer who was seriously injured in an auto accident recently underwent surgery at University Hospital last Thursday.

The Laurelville Brownie, Junior and Cadet girl scouts met at the Laurel Hills Church on Sept. 28 after school for their investiture and re-dedication services. A flag ceremony was given by the girls of each troop. Promises and laws were given by the girls and each received a pin. Parents and families were guests at the ceremonies and enjoyed refreshments.

The name of Dallas DeLong was unintentionally omitted from the list of persons who attended the birthday celebration of little Miss Lesley Sweepston, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Faigley, Steve and Tim of Lancaster enjoyed Sunday dinner with Mrs. Faigley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Hartsaugh. The meal was furnished by the Faigleys.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lee of Toledo were recent weekend guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Hudgins and Rob.

Mayor Fined In Shortage

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP) — Former New Philadelphia mayor Lloyd Dinger was fined $100 plus $1,100 in court costs Tuesday after entering no contest pleas to reduced charges growing out of a $6,666 shortage in the mayor's court fund.

Dinger, was indicted in December 1974 on seven counts connected with the shortages after a special state audit discovered the money missing from the court fund.

His trial in April ended in a hung jury and the defense and prosecution began negotiations for a guilty plea to reduced charges.

Dinger pled no contest to misdemeanor charges of conversion of public property and dereliction of duty. Five felony counts were dropped.

In addition to the fine and court costs, Dinger agreed to repay the $6,666 to the city. The city agreed not to attempt to recover the $34,000 cost of the special audit which discovered the shortage.

Dinger was mayor from 1967-1975, when he was defeated in his bid for reelection.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

The Other Woman Tells Her Side

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from HIS WIFE who wrote an open letter to all women who were in love with a married man. I hope you will give me equal space to respond:

DEAR WIFE: He has never told me you are a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin) or that you have neglected him sexually. Instead he speaks only in glowing terms of you, how you stood by him in rough years, through all the difficult times.

There is no talk of divorce. I know I will never see him on Sundays or holidays. I don't call him at home. We meet at hotels since there are teenagers at my place. Yes, I sometimes spend more on him-on transportation, gas for the car, whatever. But we do not measure our relationship in money. And I insist he not buy me gifts.

I know how you feel about social status, financial security and retirement income. I ended my loveless, unhappy marriage without regard to such things. I love your husband; and we share a need for each other that has nothing to do with your set of values. But because your husband is a good man and would never hurt you, I know we will probably never be together.

I never went after your husband; he pursued me, because I recognized his pain and bewilderment; his triumphs and delights, in a way you have forgotten or belittled. He needed to be actively loved, or I would not be a part of his life.

THE OTHER WOMAN

DEAR ABBY: I beg to differ with you when you state that a girl can tell if a man is married because she never sees him on weekends or holidays.

I went with Rob for 14 months and he was with me morning, noon and night every day of the week. And last Christmas he came to my house at 9 in the evening and stayed until 10 the next morning until after the kids had opened their gifts. Then he left, saying he had to go to a family dinner. He came back again at 7 that evening and left at 6 the next morning.

When my little boy had an operation, Rob stayed at the hospital with me all day and night. Finally, on New Year's Eve, I learned he was married when we ran into some people who knew his wife.

He confessed it was true, and said he and his wife didn't sleep together but she didn't believe in divorce. I figured if he treated her that way, too, so I kicked him out. Why would a woman want to hang on to a louse like that?

STILL SINGLE AND LOOKING

DEAR STILL LOOKING: Because she probably figures she's better off with him than without him. I think he showed his "lousiness" more by lying to you about his marital status than by seeking satisfaction outside marriage to a woman who refuses to sleep with him but refuses to divorce him.

County Democrat Women Meet

The October meeting of the Pickaway County Democrat Womens' Club was held Thursday evening, in the Probate Court Room. Mrs. Esther Null, president, opened the business meeting and led the group in praying The Lord's Prayer.

Plans were discussed for the candidates' reception to be held Oct. 21st, at the home of Sheriff and Mrs. Dwight Radcliff. Committees were named and the club officers and past presidents will serve as hostesses. Members are to furnish cookies or hors d'oeuvres, or give money to help buy the punch. Anyone belonging to the Democrat Womens' Club or the executive committee who did not receive an invitation in the mail are cordially invited to the reception.

Hazel Yeatts explained to the group the club project of the "peanut man" and asked that anyone who could help with the project to please do so.

A note was read from the Young Democrat Club thanking the women for their help with a bake sale which the group had recently which was a great success.

Pam Elick of the Young Democrat Club was present with the work schedule for the Pumpkin Show at the Democrat Headquarters on Watt St. and also at the tent on West Main St. More signers are needed.

Sorosis Club Of Williamsport Began In 1918

SOROSIS CLUB

Fifty-seven years ago, February 1918, a group of young women of Williamsport were invited to the Methodist Parsonage by the minister's wife, Mrs. J. F. Kanuth, to discuss organizing a club - one to be interested in foreign missions. Several members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society (WFMS) were present to assist Mrs. Kanuth as advisors: Mrs. John H. Dunlap, Mrs. John W. Smith, Mrs. William T. Ulm, Mrs. Eugene Tinker and Mrs. J. S. Varney.

The officers elected were: Mrs. Fred L. (Esta) Tipton, president; Ruth Smiley, first vice-president; Edna Hunsicker, secretary; Drusie Boots, treasurer. Others present at the first meeting were the above officers and Esther Ater, Helen Briner McDill, Margaret Morgan, Ina Terry, Mrs. Lee (Mary) Luellen. Joining at the next meeting were Mrs. Glen (Emma) Baker, Beatrice and Louise Hunsicker, Pearl Anderson, and Hazel Morgan.

Mrs. Kanuth died the next year, February 1919, a victim of the influenza epidemic that year. She left her husband and three small sons.

The name "Sorosis" was chosen. The club continued as a missionary group for several years, and supported missionaries in the foreign field. The club gradually changed its interests and became more of a civic group though still giving to the Methodist Church and it still contributes to the church budget.

Its programs have been planned over a wide range of subjects: Music, poetry, history, travel, book reviews, biographies, local history, famous women, and men, interior decorating, foreign countries, art, antiques, Indians, and many fun events. Also several ladies told of their native lands particularly in Europe.

The club has been a factor in contributing to many charities, church and civic groups in the county, as well as in the Williamsport area, always working for the betterment of its home community.

Some of the groups to which the club has contributed have been: T. B. Society, Multiple Sclerosis, Red Cross, Cancer Society, March of Dimes, Community Fund, Heart Fund, Legion

Christmas Party, Bloodmobile Fund. In 1952 and 1953, it had charge of the Bloodmobile visits at the Williamsport Gymnasium.

A big project of the club in 1951 was furnishing a room at Berger Hospital and purchasing dishes for child patients.

The club did its part in the war years - sent jelly, and cookies to soldiers at Camp Sherman, World War I, remembered service men in World War II with candy and cookies on their birthdays, made a Service Flag for the Methodist Church, bought war bonds and contributed to the War Chest.

Chairs and silverware were purchased for the WSCS, contributed to the Methodist Parsonage built just east of the church. The club donated to the American Legion Post 618 to help with their purchase of the old Parish House for their Legion Hall. Books, band instruments and gym shoes were provided for the Williamsport School.

In May 1953, (the 30th and 31st) the club celebrated the Ohio Sesquicentennial with an Antique Show at the Pavilion, which attracted many people, and a free-will offering of over $300 was received. The antique displays were so precious and valuable that three watchmen were hired for the occasion. Old quilts and coverlets were hung to divide the rooms, showing early furnishing for the kitchen, dining room, parlor, displays of toys, tools and miscellaneous items, and a country store.

Many money-making projects have been held - jitney suppers, chicken suppers, food booth at the Pumpkin Show, pie booth at the Sulphur Spring Festival, etc.

One of the more recent projects was marking the streets in Williamsport. The club voted to do this at the December meeting, 1972 and was started in January 1973. Mrs. Mary Gearhart, Mrs. Margene Looney and Mrs. Frances Fry were named on the committee to purchase the signs; the cost was $566.89 and the erection was done by eight men of the village who volunteered their services. The next project for the betterment of the village was started in March 1973, when house numbers were sold, with nearly every house and business place numbered.

For several years, the club has contributed to a fund to send two girls to Buckeye Girls State. This project is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary 618.

The gavel, which is used by each president, was presented to the club in September 1953 by Frank Sharpe of Kingston. He made it from a limb that had broken from the famous Logan Elm, the head is elm and the handle is cherry. It is a cherished memento, since the Logan Elm fell victim to disease and storms several years ago.

Perhaps the sustaining element in the long years of existence and service of the Sorosis Club can be attributed to the collect by Mary Stewart which is recited to open every meeting of the club.

The club, at one time, had 80 members and in the year of 1975, the enrollment was 58. The presidents from 1918 to the present time include: Mrs. Fred R. Tipton (first), Mrs. Eugene Tinker, Miss Hazel Morgan, Mrs. J. K. Bryan, Mrs. Lee Luellen, Miss Twila West, Mrs. Marybelle Shaw, Mrs. Russell Wardell, Mrs. George LeMay, Mrs. Ansel Dreisbach.

Mrs. Edna Newhouse, Mrs. Harold J. Bowers, Mrs. George Miller, Miss Carolyn Bochard, Mrs. Estella Johnson, Mrs. W. D. Heiskell, Mrs. W. D. Radcliff, Mrs. Charles Holland, Mrs. Howard Nessel, Mrs. William Dunlap, Mrs. Thurman Bowser, Mrs. Carl Gearhart, Mrs. Charles Rose, Mrs. Raymond French, Mrs. Arta James, Mrs. Ulin McGhee, Mrs. Gordon Rihl, Mrs. Ida Ware, Mrs. George E. Hamman.

Mrs. Harry Kern, Mrs. Paul Counts, Mrs. Glenn McCoy, Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood, Mrs. Alfred Johnson, Mrs. Edward Gahn, Mrs. William McOmber, Mrs. Paul Whitesed, Mrs. Jack Brayshaw, Mrs. Ray Strawser, Mrs. Harvey Looney, Mrs. Ellwyn Hulse, Mrs. Glen Whitten, Mrs. Ray Valone, Mrs. William Rhinesmith, Mrs. John West, Mrs. J. R. Hamman, and Mrs. Van Meter Hulse (1975). A number served several times.

Charter members still living are Mrs. Tipton, Mrs. Luellen, Mrs. Russell Wardell, Mrs. Russel McDill, Mrs. Roy Sampson, Mrs. Edna Newhouse, Mrs. Charles Shipe and Mrs. Harold Gehres.

Nine-inch round and square pans are useful for baking yeast rolls as well as for cakes.

FDA Attacks ITT Claims For Bread

WASHINGTON (AP) — The folks who bake "Fresh Horizons" bread say their high-fiber product is a food — not a drug. But the government says they should stop claiming that their loaves help prevent ailments ranging from cancer to varicose veins.

The Food and Drug Administration said Tuesday it has issued a warning to ITT Continental Baking Co. telling the firm it has gone too far in promoting the medical value of its "Fresh Horizons" brand bread.

Unless the company immediately ceases making medical claims about "Fresh Horizons," the FDA said, the bread will be considered an unapproved new drug. Such a drug cannot be marketed legally.

In a regulatory letter to ITT Continental's president, M.C. Woodward Jr., the FDA charged that the bread has been promoted in advertising as a medical aid in preventing cancer of the colon, diverticulitis, heart disease, diabetes, obesity and varicose veins. The federal regulatory agency said that unless such labeling claims and promotions aimed at physicians are halted, the government will seize the bread and seek a court injunction against the manufacturer to halt the practice.

A spokesman for the baking company in Rye, N.Y., confirmed that advertising of "Fresh Horizons" bread has been directed to physicians. But he said a brochure that praises the bread has not been sent to physicians as originally planned.

The spokesman said ITT Continental will ask FDA officials to clarify what claims the company can make for its bread. The product has been heavily promoted.

"We certainly shall comply with whatever steps are required," the company spokesman said. "But we don't want to move in the dark."

Crop Board Cuts Back Corn Estimate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Crop Reporting Board has reduced the prospects for this year's corn harvest by 27 million bushels, the wheat crop by 13 million and soybean production by 25 million bushels.

But top Agriculture Department officials said after the Oct. 1 estimates were released Tuesday that the overall picture is that the harvest will end up "in reasonable balance with expectations."

The first looks by the board at the fall-potato and citrus crops turned up record numbers.

J. Dawson Ahalt, USDA's staff economist, said the market should show "a stronger price tone for crop producers."

He also said there should be no change in the department's forecast of a 3 per cent gain for consumer food prices in the 1976 averages over the 1975 averages and a similar creep upward in the first half of 1977.

Because the supply of feedgrains on hand when the marketing years changed this fall was "so tight," he added, the price situation for grain farmers and livestock feeders alike should remain reasonably constant at current levels.

Ahalt said the size of the wheat crop, combined with relatively sluggish export demand, could mean less wheat being planted next year east of the Mississippi and a general turn by wheat growers to cotton and soybeans, where profitable.

The board estimated, on the basis of Oct. 1 field surveys, that the corn crop would total a record 5.87 billion bushels, 2 per cent more than last year.

It reduced the estimate for all wheat to 2.127 billion bushels, a level slightly below the record 1975 harvest of 2.133 billion.

Issue 5 Links Consumers, Utilities

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — How much help do residential consumers want in dealings with Ohio gas, electric and telephone companies? If Issue 5 on the November ballot passes, two consumer offices will champion their cause against utilities.

The proposed constitutional amendment would create a Residential Utility Consumers Action Group (RUCAG), an independent, nonprofit advocate office, funded on a voluntary basis.

Regardless of the outcome of the vote on RUCAG, a separate consumer counsel will begin next year intervening on behalf of homeowners and renters in regulatory cases before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO).

The consumer counsel concept, already in effect in about a dozen states, was enacted as part of a major utility rate reform bill.

RUCAG's role would be similar, but the concept of a voluntarily-funded, independent action group for utility consumers would be unique to Ohio, if enacted. It originated with Ralph Nader's Public Interest Research Group in Washington, D.C. and has yet to be adopted by any state.

RUCAG would be financed by voluntary $6 a year check-offs on utility service bills and would be guided at the outset by a seven-member board of trustees, named in the ballot issue.

Ohioans for Utility Reform (OUR), sponsor of the proposition and three other ballot issues, stresses that RUCAG would be free of governmental interference and accountable only to its membership.

"It's not a government agency," says Steve Sterrett, OUR's public information director. "When you are accountable, you are also influenced by RUCAG will be accountable only to its membership and if it doesn't perform well, ratepayers won't fund it."

Citizens for Safe, Lower Cost Electricity (CSLCE), a utility-backed coalition opposed to the four OUR amendments, sees RUCAG in a different light — "unnecessary and duplicative."

"It beats me as to why anyone would want to pay twice for representation, especially in this day of increasing costs, and into a fund administered by a group of seven people they know nothing about," says Eugene "Pete" O'Grady, chairman of CSLCE.

Although Ohio's public utilities will be assessed for the operation of the consumer counsel, the office already in existence, the companies will eventually pass this cost on to ratepayers. Consequently, O'Grady reasons a consumer who voluntarily contributed to RUCAG would also be paying for the consumer counsel's activities.

This public consumer counsel will be named early next year by nine trustees from different segments of society, appointed to an advisory board by Atty. Gen. William J. Brown. Should the voters approve issues, RUCAG would operate as a separate entity.

RUCAG's seven original trustees, who would receive expenses but no salary, would serve until contributions reached the $10,000 mark. After that, public elections by congressional district would be held for two-year terms on the policy board.

Although the prospective board members are named in the amendment, O'Grady says "most voters will not know anything about these seven people, let alone know that a 'yes' vote on Issue 5 will elect them to state office."

The seven are: James L. Mack, a Shaker Heights psychologist; John T. Looney of Wadsworth, a representative of the American Friends Service Committee; Edward A. Harter, a Columbus attorney; Susan E. Clark, an Akron social worker; Charles S. Toskas, a Youngstown teacher and consumer protection caseworker; Fred Shuttlesworth of Cincinnati, a Baptist minister, and Susan M. Weaver, director of Cuyahoga County's child abuse prevention program.

Friends Aid Fire Victims

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A week ago, Michael and Sharon Clements lost everything to a fire—their children, an apartment and all their belongings.

But this week, neighbors they never knew before surfaced to give the young couple hope.

On Monday, the Clements were given $2,040 collected over the weekend along with bundles of clothing and groceries. And furniture is awaiting delivery once the couple finds another place to live.

"You really don't know how many friends you have, I guess," Clements said. "I just can't believe it."

The donations were collected by citizens band radio enthusiasts, coordinated by Alfred Sullivan and William McCoy, both neighbors of the Clements.

Sullivan estimated more than 1,400 persons donated cash and clothing over the weekend.

Clements said he and his wife, now living with relatives, have no plans yet. Their children, Stewart, 3 and Joseph, 2, were killed in the fire which authorities theorize started while the youngsters played with matches.

"Everything around here reminds us of the kids...the house, the stores, the parks," he said.

SO FAR, SO GOOD — An office worker in Dusseldorf, West Germany, leaps from a tall office building. He is taking part in a test of an inflatable mattress the fire department is considering for use in evacuating people from buildings without fire escapes, or that are too small for firemen's ladders. Other office workers watch the test from the building's windows.

Mel Tillis Sues Over Commercials

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music singer Mel Tillis, winner of this year's top country music award, says he'll take legal action against two networks that rejected his dog food commercials because he stutters.

"It hurt my feelings and it hurt my pocketbook," Tillis said Wednesday. "It also hurts to know networks won't let people who have handicaps have employment or equal opportunities."

The commercials were rejected by executives at both the National Broadcasting Co. and Columbia Broadcasting Co., who said they felt they might offend people who stutter. The networks also said they hadn't realized who the person in the commercial was.

Tillis said his lawyer plans to file discrimination complaints with the Federal Communications Commission.

"If this isn't discrimination, I don't know what is," Tillis said. "I thought there was an all-out effort in this country to hire the handicapped."

In New York, an NBC spokesman said, "It appeared to us that if we approved this, it would appear to be making fun of people with that affliction. Nowhere was Tillis identified as the country and Western singer who actually does stutter. We had no idea it was him."

A CBS spokesman in New York said the stuttering "is so exaggerated in the commercial to the extent that we think it is inappropriate so far as our standards are concerned. It might be offensive to a certain segment of the national community, so we rejected the commercial."

Tillis was named by the Country Music Association on Monday night as the entertainer of the year — generally regarded as the highest honor in country music.

The 42-year-old entertainer has stuttered since a bout with malaria at age 3. He does not stutter when he sings.

2 Women Join Patrol Academy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Lorain County residents, the first women trainees in the history of the Ohio State Highway Patrol, are among 94 students who began 16 weeks of training Wednesday at the patrol academy.

They are Dianne L. Harris, 23, of Elyria, and Carol E. Ossman, 29, of Lorain.

Academy commandant Capt. Thomas Rice said the new class is the 100th in the patrol's history. The class will graduate Feb. 4, followed by 12 weeks on duty with experienced troopers and then another two weeks of training at the academy.

Taft, Baker Visit Union At Portsmouth

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — A striking labor union cooperated Wednesday when Sens. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, and Howard Baker, R-Tenn., visited here in connection with a locally important project to expand the government's nuclear enrichment plant.

The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, engaged in a lengthy strike against Goodyear Atomic Corp., which operates the plant under a contract with the government, removed its pickets while the politicians toured the facility.

A spokesman said the union wanted to show its concern for obtaining federal funding for the expansion project.

Following the tour, Taft told reporters the first hand view of the facility will be helpful in his effort next January to persuade his congressional colleagues to complete legislative action on the expansion project.

Taft said he would push for approval of authorization for spending $170 million in federal money for expansion of the plant north of Portsmouth in Pike County.

He blamed Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, for killing a spending authorization bill, that included the Ohio money, on the final day of congressional activity Oct. 1.

Taft charged that Gravel had blocked passage of the bill with a parliamentary maneuver because he had been unable to hatch an agreement that would land him a seat on the Congressional Joint Atomic Energy Committee.

Baker, campaigning in Ohio for Taft, who is running for reelection against Democrat Howard Metzenbaum, noted that Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter had advocated the use of nuclear energy only as a last resort. Baker said such an approach would mean loss of thousands of jobs in Tennessee, Ohio and elsewhere.

Mysterious Illness Remains Unsolved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Health officials are still puzzled by a mysterious illness that swept an electrical controls factory here more than a month ago, affecting 13 per cent of the work force.

However, the plant has no connection with two plants in Pennsylvania where workers have complained of similar symptoms, said Earl Reeg, personnel manager for Robertshaw Controls Co.'s Acro division, which has its headquarters in Richmond, Va.

In all three cases workers complained of nausea, headaches, stomach pains and breathing difficulties.

In Pennsylvania, Essex International Co. furloughed 300 employees at its electronics plant in Kittanning, Pa. after 100 of them got sick. Health authorities also were looking for the cause of a similar illness that struck 70 employees of the Rolajensen plant in Punxsutawney in September.

The Ohio plant was closed four times from Aug. 25 to Sept. 8.

"We have been unable to determine any cause-and-effect relationship," said Dr. George Shadle, head of the Ohio health department's division of occupational safety.

"All the tests were honestly negative," he said. "I feel we've gone as far as we can go. To the best of our knowledge...we can't consider it of bacterial or viral origin."

Tests were conducted on water supplies, pesticides used on lawns surrounding the plant, pipes and propane tanks, among other possibilities, Shadle said.

The propane leak looked promising as the source until it was repaired and workers still got sick.

However, DeWitt Huffman, industrial hygiene engineer, said abnormally high concentrations of methyl alcohol, freon and acetone were found at different times in the plant.

Those chemicals alone or in combination might have caused the illnesses, but adequate ventilation would prevent sickness, he said.

Reeg said 10 or 15 employees quit because of the illness. But he said he's satisfied the plant is safe.

Betty Shippe was one of the lucky ones who didn't get sick at the Robertshaw plant in Columbus. She was working the day shift Aug. 25 when she heard rumors that other employees were getting sick.

The grapevine, as it turned out, was all too accurate.

"It was about 11 o'clock when they told us how many were sick and told us to come out of the factory," she recalls. "We were really surprised when we did go out to see how many did go to the hospital."

In the next two weeks, more than 80 of the factory's 600 workers complained of nausea, headaches, dizziness and breathing difficulties.

Chessie Declares Higher Dividend

CLEVELAND (AP) — Chessie System Inc. directors declared a 58-cent per share fourth-quarter dividend Tuesday, an increase of more than 10 per cent from the old rate of 52.5 cents.

The dividend is payable Dec. 1 to shareholders of record Nov. 1.

The directors also approved purchase of 21.62 per cent of the outstanding shares of National Mine Service Co. of Pittsburgh, a manufacturer and distributor of mining machinery and supplies.

Chessie said the agreed purchase price for the 1,038,472 shares was $18.8 million.

Water Cure

NEW YORK (AP) — Storing hot and cold water in tanks may be one way to cut electric bills.

A series of experiments is being conducted in New Jersey and Pennsylvania by General Public Utilities Corp. to determine the economic practicality of equipping homes and businesses to heat or cool water at night for space heating or air conditioning in daytime.

The company will also experiment with electric rates that will be lower at night than in the day to make "heat storage" worthwhile. "The idea will be to heat or cool water in insulated tanks during the night when the electric rates are lowest and use it by day for heating or air conditioning," explains GPU Chairman William G. Kuhns.

LEGAL NOTICE
The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has set for public hearing Case No. 76-555-EL-FAC to review the fuel procurement practices and policies of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, the operation of its fuel adjustment clause, and related matters. This hearing is scheduled to begin at 10:00 a.m., E.D.T. on October 15, 1976, at the offices of the Commission, 180 East Broad Street, Columbus, Ohio. All interested parties will be given an opportunity to be heard. Further information may be obtained by contacting the Commission.

Women's Liberation Reaches Bookstores

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — "A Mind of Your Own" is one bookstore where little girls don't play with dolls and Mommy isn't always home while Daddy works.

Instead, the children's books the store carries picture girls with wrenches or fixing pipes. Boys do the cooking.

"We tried to choose books that offered children more options," said Bill Anderson, a day-care worker who volunteers at the nonprofit store.

"They show that girls don't have to be just mothers, or some man's possession," he said in an interview. "And there are books that show little boys crying or playing with dolls, all in a very positive light."

Judy Brunk, head of the board of directors that runs the store, said, "We also carry books dealing with problems children go through, such as death or living with a single parent."

"There was a need for an alternative bookstore in Des Moines to provide books people couldn't get in other stores, especially children's literature."

In selecting books, staffers look for those that don't stereotype women and for books written by women about their experiences, said Joyce Drury, coordinator of elderly services for Iowa Children and Family Services.

The store carries a wide selection of fiction and poetry. It also offers medical and sociological literature, with books on natural childbirth, abortion and battered wives.

But children's books are the fastest-

Hot Dog Man In The Soup Over Checks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Charges are pending in two cities against a 24-year-old businessman who revolutionized lunchtime on the streets of downtown Columbus with pushcart hot dog stands.

Z. Felix Szymanski, whose All-American Hot Dog Corp. operates from gaily decorated stands in downtown Columbus, is charged with two counts of passing bad checks in an indictment returned Tuesday by the Franklin County Grand Jury.

The corporation was also named in the indictment.

Meanwhile, arrest warrants have been issued in Philadelphia for Szymanski and five other officers of the Ohio corporation for theft, deceptive business practices, bad checks and criminal conspiracy. The Columbus firm has been named in a separate warrant.

Representatives of the Philadelphia district attorney's office will travel to Columbus this week to make arrests, according to Eugene Boggia, assistant district attorney in charge of the investigation.

The men allegedly solicited five Philadelphia investors to contribute between $3,250 and $3,500 each for hot dog carts that were to have been operated during Bicentennial activities this summer.

No All-American hot dog carts have appeared on Philadelphia streets so far, despite the completion of most of the city's Bicentennial activities, Boggia said.

Chase Ends In Death

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A 15-year-old Toledo youth remained in custody today in connection with the death of a Butler Township policeman who was killed Tuesday when he was struck by a fleeing car.

Police were questioning the youth in the death of Patrolman John Schmidt, 27. The youth was taken into custody when the auto struck an overpass after striking Schmidt, authorities said.

Sheriff's deputies said the chase began early Tuesday when Vandalia police stopped a car, which then sped away. Police gave chase and radioed for help.

Deputies said the fleeing car attempted to exit at Interstate 75 where Schmidt had set up a roadblock with his police cruiser. The car struck the cruiser's bumper and hit Schmidt who was standing at the rear of the cruiser, Detective R.D. Cox said.

Schmidt had been with the department for a year. He is survived by his widow and a year-old son.

School Districts Freed Of Escrow

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has signed into law a bill freeing school districts from a requirement that forced officials to tie up money in salary escrow accounts.

The legislation, sponsored by Rep. Ronald H. James, D-92 Proctorville, was enacted to correct a provision in the state new retirement law which handcuffed some districts in their use of funds. It takes effect immediately.

Although teachers are paid for nine months of work over a 12-month period, the retirement law required school districts to keep the full, technical monthly salary available in an escrow account.

Among four other measures signed into law by Rhodes on Tuesday was one permitting the organization and maintenance of an Ohio Naval Militia to assist the Ohio National Guard in times of disaster.

The militia, if created by the governor, would consist of no more than three battalions or ship companies of up to 50 persons each whose pay would be limited to 1-30th of the monthly pay of their equivalent ranks in the regular armed forces of the United States.

Also signed by Rhodes were bills that formalize previously negotiated sale of state lands around Buckeye Lake and prohibit the unauthorized display of emblems used by Ohio's law enforcement agencies.

Rhodes also signed legislation raising the salaries of townships trustees and clerks.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Oakley C. Collins, R-17 Ironton, takes effect next Jan. 11 and will not benefit township officers during their current terms.

It raises pay for trustees from $1,200 annual for townships with budgets below $10,000, to $4,400 for areas spending more than $350,000. The bill also changes the method of payment for trustees from a per diem basis to annual salaries.

For clerks salaries go up $250 annually, ranging from $1,250 in townships with budgets under $5,000, to a maximum $6,250 when township budgets exceed $350,000.

Industry Tax Breaks Questioned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rep. George D. Tablack, one of the Democratic legislature's chief spokesmen on tax policy, has sounded a note of caution about Gov. James A. Rhodes' rush to grant major tax breaks to industry.

Teamster Pension Shakeup Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of the trustees of one of the Teamster Union's biggest pension funds are planning to resign in an effort to ease legal problems stemming from a federal investigation into alleged misuse of funds and ties to organized crime.

Informed sources said the 15 trustees of the Central States Pension Fund, who are drawn from the union and the trucking industry, made the decision at a meeting Monday at Rancho LaCosta, a plush resort south of Los Angeles.

The sources said the agreement called for at least 11 of the trustees to resign by the end of this month.

While no resignations have been made yet, the sources said, the trustees expect to work out the details within the next few weeks on who will go and who will stay.

A spokesman for the fund, Robert Billings, declined comment, but one source said the agreement was still "very tenuous at this point."

"There is general agreement. But the problem now is who" must resign, the source said. "It's not set yet."

Any mass resignation of trustees would represent the most dramatic of a series of moves the fund has taken in recent months to show the government it is taking reform steps in an effort to win back the tax exemption suspended by the Internal Revenue Service in June.

The trustees asked the IRS in September to restore the exemption, citing various changes the fund has made in its operations and declaring a willingness to sell the $1.4-billion fund's real estate holdings.

In addition to the IRS' probe, the fund is also the target of a joint investigation by the departments of Labor and Justice.

Sources said federal investigators have hinted that if the trustees resign they would stand a better chance of getting favorable treatment in the event of any civil or criminal prosecution.

Sources said the resignations would not mean an end to the probe nor would it relieve the trustee of liability for past practices.

Under the federal pension law, trustees can be held personally liable for losses a pension fund incurs as a result of wrongdoing.

Civil matters are being handled by the Labor Department, and the Justice Department is investigating possible criminal violations.

"They know this has been one whale of an investigation and they know the heat is on," a source said.

Newsprint Prices Going Through Roof

NEW YORK (AP) — Canadian manufacturers of newsprint, citing a jump in wages and other production costs, are raising their prices for the second time this year.

Canada is the world's leading producer of newsprint and supplies about 65 per cent of the nine million tons used each year by United States newspaper, telephone directory and paperback book publishers.

The year's first increase came in March when prices for newsprint rose $20 to $25 a ton. The second will come Nov. 1 and Dec. 1, when five of the biggest Canadian mills put a $20 a ton hike into effect.

The increase will raise newsprint prices to $305 a ton for Eastern, Southern and Midwestern publishers

Turnpike Panel To Spend More

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Turnpike Commission has voted to raise spending levels by 12.8 per cent in an $18.9 million budget, adopted for the 1977 calendar year.

Ralph H. Anderson, secretary-treasurer of the commission, said Tuesday inflation played a part but "most of the increases are required items that could not be avoided."

He listed higher costs for employee retirement benefits, highway patrol service, radio communication maintenance, and toll collectors salaries as significant factors in the $2.1 million spending rise.

The commission also reported record September revenues of $4.2 million, topping the previous high for the month of $4.1 million in 1973.

The debt on the northern Ohio roadway has been cut to $80.3 million, the commission said, and should be reduced to $78 million by the end of the year.

Nursing Home Fraud Agency Under Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A cabinet-level post to represent the aged is among legislation the attorney general's office might offer the General Assembly to reduce nursing home fraud.

Atty. Gen. William J. Brown said Tuesday he is considering the post as a result of complaints of financial fraud by nursing homes and the lack of state review.

The complaints led to an investigation by Brown's office more than four months ago. His staff will end its public forums into the nursing home industry Friday in Toledo.

Investigators say they believe fraud is widespread among the 900 nursing homes in the state.

"I feel certain we will have one ton of legislation prepared to give to the legislature and we will be doing lots of enforcement," Brown said in an interview during a forum here Tuesday.

"The underlying problem...is financial fraud and scams," said Donald VanMeter, special assistant to the attorney general. "Patient abuse is not widespread."

Investigators have found, for example, that some nursing homes are keeping the $25-a-month personal allowance intended for patients' private use. "They don't make clear records and simply take the money," he said.

Other frauds include billing for drugs not given patients.

Where fraud hurts is in wasted federal payments to nursing homes, according to such witnesses as Catherine Hawes, an investigator for a U.S. Senate subcommittee on nursing home ownership and profits.

"There are a number of ways to jack up the cost to the government" without improving care, she told the attorney general's staff.

Among them are management costs, pyramid mortgages and multiple leasing arrangements.

Charles Turner of the MidOhio Health Planning Federation testified that nursing home applicants and owners are evading the state's capital expenditure review requirement—the only review the state requires—by selling or transferring stock but retaining ownership.

His testimony produced this exchange with Brown:

Turner: "There is a very limited review process in the state."

"Not for long," Brown said.

"We have a growing suspicion that corporations are selling to sister corporations at high costs," then getting the nursing home back later with high profits, Brown said.

Medicare will prosecute fraud "if you can get the U.S. attorney to take the case. But U.S. attorneys don't like to take these cases because they're not sexy," said Ms. Hawes, who prefers the feminist designation.

Disclosure laws might help for two or three years, but eventually people would get around them, she said.

Derby News

You are invited to attend services at the Derby United Methodist Church Oct. 17, when the sermon title will be "Holy Ground", with the Rev. Larry Zellers in the pulpit. Last Sunday, Lay Leader Mickey Phillips conducted the worship service.

Flu immunization shots will be given to persons over 60, with heart trouble, diabetes, or other chronic diseases, and will be available Oct. 14, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Derby Lodge Hall. This is the bivalent serum for swine flu and A-Victoria 75 for high risk persons.

There will be a Halloween party for the Sunday school on Oct. 23 at 6 p.m. at the Derby United Methodist Church. It is sponsored by the Derby youth group.

Mrs. Martha Vincent is a patient in Mt. Carmel Medical center 793 W. State St., Columbus, 43222. Please send cards to cheer her.

Campaign Cash Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford had twice as much campaign money left to spend in the last five weeks before the election as Jimmy Carter, according to finance reports made public today.

Through Sept. 30, Ford had spent only $3.5 million of the $21.8 million he is allowed to spend in the general election under federal law. Carter, however, had spent $12.5 million of his identical allotment.

That left Ford with $18.3 million spending room compared to $9.3 million for Carter — an edge that could prove critical in the final days of advertising blitzes and other last-minute efforts to win what is regarded as a close election Nov. 2.

However, the reports filed with the Federal Election Commission do not show whether, for example, Carter may have already spent money for media advertisements which have yet to appear, or whether Ford may have already incurred obligations for which bills had not yet been received.

Sneek-A-Peek

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Children's Book Week will be November 8-14, and we in the Children's Room intend to observe it with spirit! One of our plans is to turn that week's "Sneek-a-Peek" over to our patrons by printing the winning entries of a "My Favorite Library Book" contest.

All children may enter simply by writing a paragraph or two about their favorite library book and their reasons for selecting it. More details later...

Meanwhile for eager beavers who want to start reading for their entry, we've received more new books from which to choose.

Our newest picture book, Mercer Mayer's "Everybody Knows What a Dragon Looks Like", has been described by Publisher's Weekly as being "The most exquisite children's book of the current season". The story involves a dragon who, because of a street sweeper's faith in him, saves the city of Wu from the Wild Horsemen of the north. Artfully told and illustrated—but come in and judge for yourself!

Middle elementary children who like the tall-tale flavor of Sid Fleischman's McBroom stories won't want to miss his latest "McBroom Tells a Lie". Once again, neighbor Heck Jones attempts to get McBroom's farm, but this time he is met by a popcorn machine, frozen sunlight, and jumping beans.

If any of you saw Walt Disney's film version of "Bristle Face", you'll probably want to read the book, which we now have. A good story of the love between a young boy and a dog that is timeless in its appeal.

Older readers who like mystery and adventure shouldn't miss "The Clown". In this story Liza's parents have recently died, so her aunt and uncle invite her to visit Moscow with them. She soon finds that their reasons for having her go deeper, however, and she and a circus clown she meets plot to escape the country together.

"The Case Against the Wind and Other Stories" consists of ten newly translated Yiddish folk tales. Rich with humor and pathos, the stories are entertaining reading and might also be good supplementary reading for religious or history groups.

Whether you're interested in the above books or in others, come in soon. Children's Book Week is only three weeks away, so if you aren't sure which book is your favorite, hurry on in to look things over!

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It will be increasingly warm in Ohio through Friday with a chance of rain.

A weak high pressure system centered over Missouri and extending northward will move across Ohio today, providing a mostly sunny day with temperatures in the 60s. Cloudiness will increase tonight as a low pressure system in southern Manitoba approaches the state.

There is a chance of showers Friday as the cold front moves across the state, but temperatures will reach the upper 60s to mid 70s before it passes.

Set Welfare Indictments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Franklin County prosecutor's office will seek indictments against 39 suspected Welfare cheaters who are current or former employees of Ohio State University.

County Atty. George C. Smith said Wednesday that the cheating came to light in an investigation by the state Department of Administrative Services.

Suspects probably will be charged with deception by failing to say they were employed when they applied for welfare benefits. His office expects to take the cases to a grand jury within 10 days, he said.

OSU is not involved in the determination of welfare eligibility of its employees, said William Merriman, the university's communications director.

Most of the employees worked in the OSU hospital in lower-level positions and were paid from $2.30 to $5.10 per hour, Smith said, and records show they received welfare aid in food stamps and Aid to Dependent Children benefits ranging from $96 to $296 per month.

Of requests for indictments against 63 persons on deception charges, 43 persons pleaded guilty and one trial ended in a conviction.

Couple Returns From Indian Reservation

Merle and Peggy Swank just returned from the Commanche Indian Reservation in Cache, Oklahoma. A Mission Team of 24 men and women built a new parsonage for Pastor Owen Smith and the Commanche Indians.

All members of the team pay their own expenses as well as contribute to the cost of the building.

Coverage of this project was shown on the Lorton Oklahoma Television Station, and will be seen on the Columbus Station in the near future.

Future work projects for the Swanks include a month in New Guinea for the Churches of Christ in Christian Union, and Nassau in the Bahamas, Israel and Africa, South America for the Ohio men in Missions.

They are available for slide presentations of Barbados or Indian Reservation.

Mrs. Duane Corbett's class will present a Bicentennial salute to our flag. They have been studying the different flags at important events in our history and have made giant pictures to illustrate them. A short dialogue accompanies each picture.

Mrs. Raymond Maxson's class is preparing short skits on Aesop's Fables. They have learned to play kazoos and will demonstrate them after their skit. The program will continue with some Halloween fun.

The public is invited to attend. Charles Dean is the principal.

Agency Receives Federal Grant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has received $5.3 million in federal aid for handicapped children to be used in state operated institutions and county mental retardation programs.

Dr. Timothy B. Moritz, director, said the funds are an 8 per cent increase over the last fiscal year and will be used to expand educational programs for more than 12,000 handicapped children throughout Ohio.

Art Of '30s Subject Of Exhibits

Bold graphics and American art of the 30's will be subjects of 2 exhibits at the Pickaway County Public Library from Oct. 18-Oct. 28.

"Urban Walls And City Canvases" consist of 20 prints by Ohio artists. The prints represent original designs for giant outdoor paintings in Cincinnati and Cleveland. Fun and art go hand-in-hand in this exhibit.

"Ohio Post Office Murals" is a photographic exhibition of the murals and sculptures commissioned by the Treasury Department from 1934-1943 for Ohio Post Offices. These works are important as a cause for reflection about a not too distant period in American art when aesthetic issues were sober and direct.

Both exhibits are being made available to the Library by OVAL and the Statewide Arts Service of the Ohio Foundation on the Arts.

Drake, Logan, visited Mrs. David Singleton, and Mrs. Lenna Turvey on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rhymer, Amanda were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Pearce.

The Tarleton Ladies' Auxiliary held their monthly meeting at the Firehouse on Tuesday evening with seven members present.

The meeting opened with the pledge to the flag. Plans were made for the Halloween Parade, to be held on Oct. 31st.

Judging of bicycles will be at 1 p.m., babies will be judged at 2 p.m., pets at 2:30 and the Halloween Parade will be at 3 p.m., to be followed by judging of the contestants.

The auxiliary voted to give Roger Hartranft the sum of $50 — to repair the float.

Refreshments of sandwiches, pop and coffee will be served by the ladies on the day of the Parade.

The public is extended an invitation to attend this event.

UMW Chief Defends Firing Of Aides

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller says last week's dismissal of two top aides came only after they repeatedly and flagrantly disobeyed his directives.

"It was a matter of who was going to run the union," said Miller, who last week fired his executive assistant and his director of press relations. "They weren't doing the job and I'll no longer put up with rank insubordination."

Bernard Aronson, Miller's former press aide, said he and Edward Burke were fired because the UMW president wanted to surround himself with "yes men." Some UMW sources said Miller was gearing for the union's upcoming election and wanted aides who would help him use the power of the presidency and the UMW Journal to further his campaign.

However, reached at his Washington, D.C., office Tuesday evening, Miller said nothing could be further from the truth. He also denied reports he had a long list containing the names of other persons who would be fired. "I don't contemplate letting anyone else go," he said. "That is, of course, unless there are some more people who can't take orders. It's my job to direct the activities of the people who work for me. From now on, that's what I intend to do."

"I have a clear conscience," Miller said. "I will never stifle dissent and if you don't believe me just ask those persons who opposed me in 1972 and who are still working here today. I could never stifle dissent because I can remember the days when all a coal miner was ever told was 'shut up.' But we have a democracy now and everyone is free to speak out, regardless of how he feels."

But Miller added he also felt "that while anyone who works for this union can do or say what he wants on his own time — as long as it doesn't hurt the union — he's going to have to do his job during working hours."

More than half the people of the world live in Asia.

I Never Realized Freedom Of Choice Was A Controversial Issue!

Freedom of choice and freedom of speech are the corner stones on which our country was built. There are other freedoms, too. Freedom to go and come as you want. Freedom to choose your life style. Freedom to buy what you want from whom you please.

Freedom to succeed or fail in business. Freedom to advertise your products or service in a free competitive market place. Freedom to compete with others.

There are those who would take away these and other freedoms. They say it would be for the "public" good. But, how can it be "good" if your freedom of choice in the market place is taken away by administrative action.

Products and services that are freely advertised offer you the opportunity of making your own individual choice. But, without advertising, how are you going to know the benefits of one product or service over the competition. Think about that.

Think how advertising provides you with freedom of choice. Do you really want this freedom taken away?

Who Needs Advertising? You Do!

Tigers Set For Hurricane

It will be a big night Friday at Tiger Stadium when the Wilmington Hurricane blows into town to meet Circleville in a South Central Ohio League clash with a halftime homecoming show adding to the festivities.

Wilmington is 4-1 on the season and will be looking to run their league record to 2-0 with a win over the Tigers. The Hurricane has been on the verge of getting it all together for the past couple of years. And so far it looks like this is the year that they are coming of age.

However, the Tigers are a team that seems to be able to rebound after a loss and they will certainly be ready and waiting for the Hurricane to move into Roundtown.

The Hurricane will operate from various formations such as the old fashioned dead T with two tight ends, T with split end, slot to either side and an unbalanced line with I backs and a slot to either side.

They like to use quick hitting dive plays and quick hitting off tackle smashes. The passing game will come off running fakes and sprint out passes.

On defense, Wilmington will use a 5-2 monster and 6-1 with angles, stunts and blitzes. They will move into a 6-5 for goal line defense.

The two men that the Tigers will have to contain are quarterback Gary William, 6-foot-3, 190-pound, and tailback Bruce McKee, 6-foot, 190-pound.

Circleville is 3-2 for the season and has a 1-1 record in SCOL action. They suffered a 6-0 setback last week at Greenfield but this just could go against Wilmington because all Tigers are dangerous when they are wounded. Coach Larry Cook and his Red and Black griders know that they cannot afford another loss in league play and Wilmington will certainly have its hands full.

"I believe that something good comes out of everything no matter how dark and gloomy it might appear and the good thing that came out of the Greenfield game was that in spite of the inconsistency that was killing us all night long, our kids never gave up and kept fighting back right down to the final gun," coach Cook stated.

"There is no doubt in my mind that Wilmington will be the best team we have faced up to this point and time. They have outstanding talent in the offensive backfield and receiver spots. They are a big physical football team and possess better than average quickness for their size. We must stop

Gary Williams and Bruce McKee and this will depend on how long and how well we control the ball.

"We feel that we are very much in the SCOL title race and we have three key contenders remaining on our schedule. After our opening game loss our kids bounced back and showed their real character — We expect this attitude to continue," Cook stated.

The starting offensive unit for Circleville will be: Randy Happeney, center; Earl Stevenson and Todd Mancini, guards; Bryan Price and Chuck Wellman, tackles; Tom McGuire, split end; Mark Albright, tight end; Brad Allison, quarterback; Joe Leahy, fullback; Mike Brudzinski, wingback; Frank Merrill, tailback.

On the defense it will be: Stevenson, middle guard; Paul Heffelfinger and Bo Barthelmas, tackles; Price and Bill Mogan, linebackers; John Hoffman, Tiger end; Albright, standup end; Allison, Tiger man; McGuire, 5-yard halfback; Brian Fath and Merrill, safeties.

Other SCOL teams playing Friday night will be: Greenfield at Washington C.H.; Hillsboro at Miami Trace; Madison Plains at Southeastern.

New Leaders In Grid Ratings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Class AAA Akron North, Class AA Elyria Catholic and Class A Woodsfield are new regional leaders in the Ohio High School Athletic Association's computerized weekly football ratings.

Akron North displaced Stow Walsh Jesuit for the top spot in Region 3, moving up from second. Walsh Jesuit fell all the way to eighth place.

Elyria Catholic moved up one spot in Region 5 while Girard, last week's pacesetter, tumbled to seventh.

Woodsfield made the most dramatic jump, vaulting from sixth a week ago into the leadership in Region 11. Newark Catholic, No. 1 in that area last week, is now tied for third.

In Class AAA, Parma Valley Forge, Findlay and Cincinnati Moeller maintained their regional leads.

The Class AA frontrunners again were Columbus DeSales, Philo and Cincinnati North College Hill while still atop Class A regions were Cleveland Cuyahoga Heights, Fostoria St. Wendelin and West Jefferson.

Ashtabula St. John and Cleveland Cuyahoga Heights had shared the Region 9 top spot last week. St. John was second this time.

The OHSAA uses the ratings, based solely on a team's schedule and those of its opponents and not margin of victories, to select its semifinalists for the postseason playoffs.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio High School Athletic Association's regional computerized football ratings this week with the leaders' point totals:

Islanders Top Sabres In NHL, 4-3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Buffalo Sabres got almost all the shots ... but the New York Islanders got all the breaks. As a result, they got most of the goals.

Despite a staggering 30-14 difference in shots on goal, the Islanders converted theirs with high efficiency Wednesday night and took a 4-3 decision with a little help from their opponents.

"We capitalized on the mistakes Buffalo made, but that's what we have to do all season to keep winning," said Islanders Coach Al Arbor after his club remained the only undefeated team in the National Hockey League.

The Islanders scored a shorthanded goal in the first period by Ed Westfall and quickly added another score by Clark Gillies when the Buffalo defense collapsed.

Gary Howatt drilled in two more New York goals in the second period and the Islanders withstood a late charge by the Sabres. New York could only get two shots on goal in the entire third period and Buffalo lost a chance to tie the game late in the third period when Brian Spencer missed a shot into the open net.

In other NHL action, the Boston Bruins beat the New York Rangers 5-1; the Los Angeles Kings tied the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-4; the Atlanta Flames whipped the Cleveland Barons 4-2; the Chicago Black Hawks stopped the Pittsburgh Penguins 4-1; the St. Louis Blues turned back the Colorado Rockies 3-2 and the Vancouver Canucks trimmed the Washington Capitals 4-1.

McCurdy, Patton, Boy Share OAC Honors

CLEVELAND (AP) — Capital's Tom McCurdy, Jim Patton of Baldwin-Wallace and Marietta's Mark Boy shared the Ohio Athletic Conference football honors this week.

McCurdy, a sophomore middle guard, and Patton, a senior defensive back, were named OAC defensive players of the week, while Boy, a sophomore tailback, was the only offensive selection.

Ken Anderson Eyes Steelers

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Ken Anderson has taken his lumps over the years from the Steelers and looks hopefully toward Sunday's confrontation at Pittsburgh where Cincinnati has never won.

"It's a challenge," said Anderson, discussing the team that has been his nemesis. Pittsburgh has won the Central Division of the American Conference of the National Football League for three straight years.

Cincinnati is 4-1 this season but despite the Steelers' 1-4 record, and the absence of injured quarterback Terry Bradshaw, Cincinnati is only a one point favorite.

"Look at their whole defense," said Anderson. "They try to intimidate people. They're very physical."

"We haven't done very well against them in the past. They've had good success against us."

Pittsburgh has beaten Cincinnati in eight of the last 12 games between them. Cincinnati scored on the final play of the game at Cincinnati last season to lose 30-26. The Steelers romped 35-14 in the first game at Pittsburgh.

CHS Golfers Lose; Open District AA Play Friday

Circleville's golf squad dropped a tight match to Union, 172-173, Wednesday on the Jaycees' course in Chillicothe.

Scoring for the Tigers were: Mike McKelvey, 42; Mike Hamilton, 42; Dave Wylie, 42; Eric Berger, 47; Scott Sanders, 48.

The loss runs the Tigers season record to 14-11.

The Tigers will compete in the AA Central District Tournament Friday at Apple Valley Country Club in Mt. Vernon. They are set to tee off at 10:12 a.m. with Mike McKelvey, Mike Hamilton, Dave Wylie, Eric Berger and Scott Sanders comprising the Red and Black team.

Others teams competing in the District will be: Watkins Memorial, Waterson, Bexley, Marysville, River Valley, Lakewood and Utica.

Houston Aeros Top Calgary Cowboys, 2-1

HOUSTON (AP) — With team emphasis being placed primarily on defense, Houston defenseman Marty Howe was surprised his first goal of the year came so early in the season.

Howe's power play goal at 15:39 of the second period broke a 1-1 tie Wednesday night and boosted the Aeros to a 2-1 victory over the Calgary Cowboys in a World Hockey Association game.

Riverfront Stadium Gains Tradition

CINCINNATI (AP) — It is just another ball park. It looks like any of the other impersonal concrete bowls which have sprouted up in major league cities around the nation the past decade or so.

But for a park just six years old, Riverfront Stadium already has a lot of tradition going for it.

Everybody knows the $50 million stadium is the personal playground of Cincinnati Reds star Pete Rose. And it's where quarterback Ken Anderson of the Cincinnati Bengals takes target practice against the rest of the National Football League seven times a season.

But that's not tradition, yet.

Tradition is Henry Aaron hitting the first home run in the park on opening night, June 30, 1970, and the late Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh hitting his last, in the fourth game of the 1972 National League playoffs.

It is Aaron tying Babe Ruth's record of 714 career homers on April 4, 1974, with his first swing of the season, in an appearance ordered by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Tradition is Chicago's Ken Holtzman and Rick Wise of St. Louis throwing no-hitters just 20 days apart in 1971.

It is President Richard Nixon starting the 1970 All-Star Game by throwing out the first ball and Rose ending it with his crunching collision with Cleveland catcher Ray Fosse in the 12th inning.

And the tradition isn't limited to sports or even to the stadium itself.

Singing cowboy star Roy Rogers claims he was born at second base—long before the base was ever there and Joe Morgan guarded it.

Murderer Charles Manson grew up playing in the back alleys of the slums that were later leveled to make

Atlanta Flames Beat Cleveland Barons, 4-2

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — There's no better illustration of what Atlanta goalie Phil Myre does to the Cleveland Barons than the job he did on rookie winger Ralph Klassen Wednesday night.

Atlanta was holding onto a fragile 3-2 lead over Cleveland in the third period when the speedy Klassen suddenly took a quick pass and darted in on Myre all alone.

A couple of fakes and the puck was whistling toward the open left side of the net. But, improbably, the puck stayed on the ice and came to a sudden stop against the edge of Myre's stick, flung out to his side at the last moment.

Minutes later, Hilliard Graves beat Cleveland's Gilles Meloche for the second time in the period and Atlanta had a 4-2 National Hockey League victory on ice.

Ken Griffey of the Cincinnati Reds stole four bases in a game against the Los Angeles Dodgers on May 30th.

room for the stadium. More than a century ago, Stephen Foster and Mark Twain hung around the neighboring riverfront after which the ballpark is named.

And even today, the majestic Delta Queen, the 50-year-old paddlewheeler, calls the dock beyond the right field wall its home port.

Riverfront will get some tradition starting Saturday when the defending world champion Reds begin their second straight World Series and their fourth since 1970.

Royals Top Yanks; Last Game Set

NEW YORK (AP) — Having beaten New York Yankees ace Catfish Hunter in the game they had to win to stay alive, the Kansas City Royals go after their first World Series berth tonight against Ed Figueroa.

The Yankees, hoping for their first American League pennant in 12 years, tried to wrap it up with Hunter Wednesday. But the bid backfired when the Royals kayoed Hunter early.

That left Figueroa, a 19-game winner during the regular season but the loser in Game Two of these best-of-five AL playoffs, for tonight's deciding game. Today is Figueroa's 28th birthday.

The Royals forced the championship series to its limit by beating New York 7-4 Wednesday with a barrage of extra-base hits that included a double and triple by Hal McRae.

That overcame a pair of home runs by Graig Nettles of the Yankees and sent the two division champions back for one more game in this see-saw series.

McRae, who broke out of a slump that had left him hitless in the first three games of the series, thought that beating Hunter in Game Four would give the Royals the edge tonight.

"I feel we have the momentum now," said McRae. "I think we're in the best position. We beat their best pitcher — their big gun. They won't have the same faith in the guy they throw tomorrow (Thursday night) that they had today (Wednesday)."

Yankees Manager Billy Martin bristled at that suggestion. "Figueroa will start the fifth game, and we have a lot of faith in him," he said.

What was Martin's reason for using Figueroa, who has lost three decisions to Kansas City this season, including the second game of the playoffs?

"Nineteen wins," snapped the Yankees manager. "That's a pretty good reason."

Ignored as a possible starter for the final game was lefthander Ken Holtzman, a veteran of playoff and World Series competition during his years in Oakland. "Holtzman hasn't been pitching well lately," said Martin. "I really didn't consider him."

If the Yankees had no plans for Holtzman, Royals Manager Whitey Herzog could have used him on loan. Asked about his fifth game starter, Herzog had to hedge Wednesday night.

"I have no idea right now," he said. "I have a choice of four — Dennis Leonard, Marty Pattin, Al Fitzmorris and Paul Splittorff. If I had Holtzman, I'd pitch him."

Splittorff, who pitched 5 2-3 innings of shutout relief in Game Two, would have had the assignment almost automatically if he had not had to warm up Wednesday. But he was anxious for another shot at the Yankees.

Leonard was the second game starter and was knocked out early. But Herzog thinks the 17-game winner could do a creditable job. "He's a power pitcher and if he throws strikes he can give them trouble," the manager said.

Fitzmorris is the only Royals player who has not played in the series so far. "If I pitched, I'd feel strange," he said. "I think my bid was turned down."

Reds Don't Care Who Is Series Foe

CINCINNATI (AP) — They're playing a waiting game in Cincinnati—and they don't seem to care who shows up at Riverfront Stadium Saturday.

The Cincinnati Reds, fresh from their three-game sweep of Philadelphia in the National League playoffs, began looking ahead to the World Series.

For some, it was a matter of taking on the bigger name.

For others, it was a matter of raking in a bigger paycheck.

And for most, it was a matter of believing that whichever team wound up representing the American League would also wind up a loser.

"I don't care who we play because these guys represent the best team in baseball," Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson said Wednesday as he awaited the outcome of the best-of-five playoff between the New York Yankees and Kansas City Royals, now tied 2-2.

"There isn't another club in baseball that can match the eight players we can put on the field every day," Anderson added. "This isn't any three or four-man team, like most clubs."

Anderson said he believed "some of the younger players are hoping it will be in New York. But that's because Yankee Stadium seats more than the Kansas City park and they're figuring that paying New York will mean more money to them."

Gary Nolan, the right-hander who started the final game of the Reds' playoff against the Phillies, said emphatically that he was hoping to play New York "because I figure it's a once-in-a-lifetime shot. I've never seen Yankee Stadium except on television. And it would sure make me feel proud, standing out there on the mound."

Pete Rose also said he would prefer going against New York, but for a more practical reason. "I know the Yankees' pitchers better because I've faced most of them before," he said. "I guess you might say it's a psychological thing with me, but it always bothers me when I'm facing a pitcher for the first time."

Ray Shore, Cincinnati's special assignment scout who has been keeping close tabs on both American League playoff clubs, said he would rather see the Royals win the AL flag.

"Kansas City, that's the club I'd like for us to play in the series," Shore said. "The Yanks have the more experienced staff and I think they'd have a better chance of holding down our hitters. And the Kansas City park has Astroturf like ours. That's another reason why I'd rather see us play them than the Yankees."

For the most part, though, the Reds were being noncommittal about their possible opponent.

"I don't care which team it is," said left-hander Don Gullett, the Cincinnati starter in the World Series opener, summing up the Reds' viewpoint. "All I know is I'll be ready when Saturday comes."

The Houston Astros won five of their first six double headers this season.

Lewis University of Lockport, Ill., won its last 12 tournament games in taking the 20th NAIA World Series baseball title.

Mexican Aids Blanchester Gridders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Mexican exchange student, who speaks little English, has come to the rescue of Blanchester High School's football team, helping extend its victory streak to 20 games.

Bruno Ramos, 18, from Mexico City, did not play in his first American football game until Oct. 2, starting on defense against East Clinton.

"But we were trailing 7-0 at halftime and only had one first down," said Jack O'Rourke, the Blanchester coach. "I decided to put Bruno in at quarterback. He ran the team with no problem at all."

With the coaches calling the plays from the sidelines, Ramos ran for two touchdowns and two extra points, leading Blanchester, a Clinton County team, to a 20-7 victory.

Last week he followed with another touchdown and extra points run as Blanchester beat Mason 15-13, its 22nd straight game without a loss.

The 5-foot-9, 160-pound senior says he has played the sport about eight seasons.

"The big difference between the play there and here is the quarterback calls more plays in Mexico while the coaches call most of the plays here," he said.

O'Rourke says the language barrier is disappearing each week for Ramos.

"Bruno has gotten to the point where he understands what we tell him in practice if we talk very slowly. I was afraid to use him at first because I didn't know if the language problem would hurt us. But he knows what he's doing even if he can't tell you," said the Blanchester coach.

Around Ohio: Tailback Terry Bates of Fremont Ross has 913 yards rushing in five games and has surpassed 240 yards twice. The latest was 242 yards last week against Mansfield Senior.

John Long, Williamsport Westfall's 2,528-yard career rusher, is out for the season after undergoing knee surgery.

Lancaster's 24-16 victory last week was only Upper Arlington's fourth loss in 43 Central Ohio League games and the first to the Golden Gales since a 1963 forfeit. Bob Krannitz, a substitute tailback, ran 185 yards and scored two Lancaster touchdowns.

Newcomerstown's victory streak is up to 12 games, one shy of the school record. Doug Donnelly of Cambridge ran 63, 87 and 3 yards for touchdowns in a 47-34 loss to Canton McKinley. A converted middle guard, fullback Gerald Jackson scored three McKinley touchdowns.

Xenia beat Kettering Fairmont East with a 32-yard flea flicker play in the last 12 seconds, quarterback Kent Phillippi to Curtis Wingard, who lateralled to Mark Scott for the score.

Miami Trace, near Washington Court House, is averaging 530 yards a game and has not lost in its last 18 under Coach Fred Zechman.

Cleveland Stadium will be the site of a high school football doubleheader Saturday: Parma Padua vs. Cleveland Latin at 6 p.m. and Cleveland St. Ignatius vs. Cleveland West Tech at 8:30 p.m.

Walleye Fishing Ban Attacked

By JIM DAUBEL
For The Associated Press
Walleye fishing would be closed statewide during seven weeks of the best spring angling for that species if a bill recommended by a House committee is approved by the legislature and governor.

Sponsor of the measure is Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, a longtime foe of the wildlife division and consistent supporter of antigun, antihunting legislation.

Wilkowski's measure would prohibit the taking of walleyes by commercial or sports fishermen from March 24 to May 11 annually. He says it is aimed primarily at curtailing the illegal snagging of walleyes in the Sandusky River at Fremont every spring.

The legislation is opposed by the wildlife division and is expected to come under fire from sportsmen's groups if it is pursued when the General Assembly reconvenes next year.

"I received a number of requests—a vast number—from fishermen who were concerned about the illegal fishing of walleye," Wilkowski explained. "Everyone will agree out here in northwestern Ohio that it's like a Roman circus during spawning season."

The walleye fishing problems in the Sandusky River are well known to the division, which moved two years ago to curb illegal fishing tactics when thousands of the prized gamefish migrate upstream during their annual spring spawning runs in March and April.

Terminal tackle has been restricted and portions of the river closed from 1 a.m. to 5 a.m., when most snagging occurs. Stronger measures, including daylight fishing only, have been advocated within the division but never adopted.

Wilkowski maintains that the natural resources department "has condoned snagging and will continue to condone it because of agreements and arrangements with the League of Ohio Sportsmen, all to the detriment of other fishermen who don't belong to the league or any other sportsmen's organization."

The division and many sportsmen are opposed to Wilkowski's bill for several reasons. First, by protecting the species statewide, they contend all fishermen would be punished for the excesses of a few. Secondly, the division is particularly critical of any move to put fish or game management in the political process.

Wilkowski steered the bill to his own House Economic Affairs Committee rather than the Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee, where such bills normally would go.

He said he brought the legislation to his own committee because it "deals with a multitude of subjects. There is no reason why it shouldn't go" before his panel, he said.

Asked why he didn't go before the natural resources committee, Wilkowski replied that "getting an endorsement before a committee means absolutely nothing. The ultimate test is on the floor of the Senate."

Don January Tiring Out?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Tough old Don January, who happily calls himself "Old Folks," will close out one of pro golf's most remarkable seasons this week.

"This is it," drawled the slow-moving, easy-going January before teeing off in the first round today as the defending champion in the $125,000 San Antonio-Texas Open. "I've played enough. I'm running out of gas."

That's exactly what happened in his last start, two weeks ago in the Sahara Invitational in Las Vegas. He led through three rounds, then faded over the last 18 holes and finished in a tie for second with Dave Hill.

Still, that performance helped him to the best year of his pro career that has spanned more than 20 years, and capped one of the most dramatic comebacks in sports history.

At age 46, after a three-year retirement in which he rarely played even friendly golf, he won the prestigious Tournament of Champions, was in title contention almost every time he started, has a chance at the Vardon Trophy for the tour's low scoring average and now has won $162,772, more than twice as much as he had ever won.

"It's been very rewarding, very satisfying," January said.

Criminal Cost Subsidy Distributed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Criminal costs subsidy payments totaling $341,294 were distributed to 73 county clerks of court during September, State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson said Wednesday.

The payments ranged from $53.60 in Noble County to $59,766.85 in Hamilton County. The payments do not reflect any expenses incurred under the Ohio Public Defenders Program, Ferguson said.

Demo Women Set Fall Convention

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Federated Democratic Women of Ohio will meet Oct. 22-23 for their 45th annual fall convention. Six hundred women are expected to attend the weekend session.

The women are to be addressed by U.S. Senate candidate Howard Metzenbaum, State Treasurer Gertrude Donahey and Sen. Anthony Celebrezze, D-25 Cleveland.

A-C School Board Discusses Building Program

The regular meeting of the Amanda-Clearcreek Board of Education was held Monday and members discussed the building program.

The architectural firm of Sonik, Eller and Martin sent a representative to the meeting. James Hazelrigg told of the progress of the building program.

The board also applied for a federal grant of approximately $1 million to develop a new sewage treatment plant and to renovate the water system at the Stoutsville building.

A change was made from the Major Medical Insurance of the Oasis Trust Company to the Blue Cross Blue Shield Major Medical plan.

The philosophy of the local school district was adopted and the activity budgets from the elementary, junior high and several high school activity accounts were accepted by the board.

Personnel hired at the October meeting were Sue Romine and Richard Wharton as full time bus drivers, Mary Bowers and Delores Fraunfelder as substitute study hall monitors and Arnold McNeal as custodian at the Amanda building.

The board accepted substitute teacher lists three and four from the Fairfield County Schools office and hired Sheryl Arnold as freshman cheerleader advisor.

Field trips were granted for the high school biology classes and the FTA.

The board accepted the model of evaluation, placement information management of handicapped children to conform with house bill 455.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Do not wait for opportunities to materialize "out of the blue." Seek them out yourself. A period for exercising your lively imagination and your good judgment.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): You may feel the weight of pressure in certain job issues. Don't try to force your own views. Listen — and learn. Superiors will be impressed.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A minor flirtation could be a pleasant diversion, but don't let it take your mind off your work. There's much to be accomplished — profitably.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Fine lunar influences. You can take to the high road enthusiastically; pursue worthwhile objectives with a good measure of attainment. Romance also favored.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Aspects are generous, but you will accomplish much more through teamwork than by going it alone. This is often difficult for the Leoite but, at times, it has its merits.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Good judgment needed now. Where a project is pending, try to force the pace if it will prevent loss of time or assets. Otherwise, you can "play it by ear."

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Don't consider first thoughts only, nor first impressions. You could be mistaken about motivations, indications, meanings. Give all the benefit of the doubt.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): You may run into snags or obstacles — but you can handle them well. Pep up an old idea, keep your vision broad. Think over past experiences — and profit by them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Jupiter influences extremely generous. A day in which to exercise your keen faculties and capitalize on your wealth of talents. Business matters especially favored.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Be careful not to mix friends and finances now. Arguments, mistrust on either side would be a distinct possibility. In other respects, day should go well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You may face some inconveniences but the result will justify them and will compensate if you handle situations maturely. Broaden your mental horizons, perk up enthusiasm.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Stellar influences suggest that you expand — within reason. Tread cautiously in new areas but go forward confidently on familiar paths. Progressive ideas stimulated.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with lofty ambitions, unusual practicality and efficiency and a fine gift of logic. You are devoted to home and family, but are not always demonstrative in your affections. This sometimes hurts, so try to let loved ones know that you care. Your versatility is outstanding and the fields from which you could choose a successful career are almost limitless. In the art world, you could shine as writer, poet, playwright, designer or musician; in the professions, choose law, diplomacy, statesmanship or medicine. If business appeals, banking and real estate are your best bets.

Sweet Adelines Meet In Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP) — For those who like their competition lilting and melodic, nothing could be finer than the 30th international convention of the Sweet Adelines, a worldwide organization of women who do more than sing in the shower.

More than 5,000 delegates from 50 states and 11 countries jammed city hotels this week and—in contrast to past conventioners who grumbled while they waited—some of these ladies sang "Country Roads" in barbershop harmony.

Many of the delegates are entered in the choral and barbershop quartet competition which culminates with the quartet finals on Friday and the choral finals on Saturday.

The Chord Poppers, from Massapequa, N.Y., and the Charisma Chords from Minnesota are sauntering around town trying to outstyle other quartets who dress in matching green vests and pink skirts, or sequined blouses that spell out the name of their group.

It's all part of the spirit of the Sweet Adelines, which started in Tulsa, Okla. in 1947 as a pleasant way to pass an evening and which has grown into a half-million dollar operation.

"It's a creative outlet for women who just want to get an evening out of the house and who might love to sing," said Sandy Parsons, a non-singing member of the Adelines administrative staff.

In fact, according to Jayne Burnham, choral director for the St. Paul, Minn. chapter, 75 per cent of those who are in the chorus can't read music.

"They just love to sing and we teach them how to do it," Mrs. Burnham said.

The quartets just seem to evolve from the choruses which represent each of the 631 chapters. There are groups all over the country, and they're singing barbershop harmony now in such places as Kenya, New Zealand, Sweden and England.

In fact, next year, the international convention is going to be in London.

"We'll sing anything as long as we can get it in barbershop harmony," said Mrs. Burnham. "We sing old songs, new songs, rock and original barbershop tunes."

The group has grown by leaps and bounds, according to organization officials, and there are currently 27,000 amateur singers in the ranks.

A quartet doesn't worry about whether one member is a grandmother and another is a teeny-bopper. It only matters that they both harmonize.

The group provides entertainment at numerous benefits and is a staple on traveling USO shows, such as one which is about to embark on a 14-day, five-state tour.

While most of Cincinnati is impatiently waiting for the World Series to begin, the Sweet Adelines have already begun a competition of their own.

Their choral competition is run in deadly earnest with no commotion, and no smoking allowed to clog delicate vocal chords.

They are battling for the title "Queens of Harmony," and for a Sweet Adeline, that is every bit as big an honor as a World Series title would be to the Cincinnati Reds baseball team.

Judge Ammer Sentences 3 Men To Reformatory

Two men were sentenced to terms in the Mansfield Reformatory and a third was sentenced to six months in the Pickaway County Jail by Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer.

Denver Morgan Willard, 18, Route 2, Laurelville, was sentenced to concurrent 6-month to 5-year terms in the Mansfield Reformatory after pleading guilty to charges of breaking and entering and grand theft.

Willard entered the guilty pleas July 23, but the sentencing was deferred pending a pre-sentence report.

He was arrested for the theft of an automobile May 25.

Woodrow T. Burton, Route 2, Ashville, was sentenced to a 6-month to 5-year term in the Mansfield Reformatory after he pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving stolen property.

Burton was arrested by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies Sept. 6 for receiving picnic tables which had been stolen from the Columbus Metropolitan Park Authority.

Donald E. Donaldson, 11578 Poplar St., Ashville, was sentenced to six months in the Pickaway County Jail after pleading guilty to a lesser charge of attempted escape.

Donaldson was charged with escape by Circleville Police Aug. 15.

Michael Harold Huff, 18, Coalton, was placed on probation for three years after pleading guilty to forgery.

Judge Ammer, who sentenced him to a six month to five year term in the Mansfield Reformatory, suspended the jail term and ordered probation after receiving a pre-sentence report from the Probation Office.

Huff was arrested June 15 and entered a guilty plea Aug. 18.

Pre-sentence reports were ordered by Judge Ammer on two defendants who pled guilty to drug-related charges.

They are Ronnie Haddox, Route 1, Williamsport, who was arrested July 17 and charged with trafficking in marijuana, and Deborah J. Havens, 18, 11582 Poplar St., Ashville, who was charged with sale of a narcotic drug.

In addition, Judge Ammer withdrew bond on Ms. Havens and remanded her to the Pickaway County Jail.

Four People Injured In Crashes

Four people were injured in two auto accidents investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies Wednesday.

Carolyn J. Brooks, 39, Route 5, and a passenger in her car, Joyce R. Dumm, 27, 1725 Sioux Drive, complained of neck and shoulder pains following a two-car crash 3:55 p.m. Wednesday.

The accident occurred on Route 22, seven-tenths of a mile east of the Stoutsville Pike intersection.

According to the report of Deputy Nick Franklin, Ms. Brooks was following another car on Route 22 when the vehicle slowed to make a left turn.

Another trailing car, driven by Rodger C. Derr, 23, Route 2, Amanda, could not stop and hit the rear of the Brooks car.

Derr was charged with failing to maintain assured clear distance.

Bryan M. Dunkel, 18, 471 E. Main St., suffered minor injuries to his leg and side when he was thrown from a riding lawnmower after being hit by a car.

The 7 p.m. Wednesday accident on Route 188, one-tenth of a mile east of the Dunkle Road intersection, is still being investigated by Deputy Franklin.

Driver of the car was Sterlie E. Edwards, 65, Route 1, Amanda.

Dunkel, operating a lawnmower owned by Mabel Mast, Route 5, was apparently trying to cross Route 188 from a field on the south side.

Edwards' car slid 21 feet before striking the lawnmower, which was five feet inside the westbound lane.

A passenger in his car, Reba M. Edwards, complained of leg pains.

Latin is a dead language, but a number of languages came from it, among them Italian, French, Spanish, Portuguese and Romanian.

Thieves Take Two Flutes From Schools

Flutes owned by students at the Westfall Middle School and Teays Valley Junior High School were stolen, according to reports at the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Jan Gulick, 10630 Scioto Darby Road, Orient, told deputies that her flute was taken from a friend's locked locker at the Teays Valley Junior High School Wednesday.

The Geminhardt flute and case are valued at $180.

Michelle Winner, 25995 Chillicothe Pike, Williamsport, told deputies that thieves took her flute from the top of her locker at the Westfall Middle School.

The Geminhardt flute and case are valued at $239.

Vandals turned over three monuments at the Washington Township Cemetery, Winstead Road, and broke grave stones.

Damage is estimated at $250.

Vandals also scratched paint on four cars at the Circleville Motor Sales lot, Route 2.

Gasoline caps were taken from the vehicles, and the rear window on one of the cars was destroyed. Damage is estimated at $185.

Thieves took two weapons from the Route 3 home of James P. Sparks.

The weapons include a .22 caliber six-shot revolver valued at $103 and a .22 caliber automatic Winchester rifle valued at $65.

Ammer Elected To Grand Masonic Post

Judge William Ammer was elected Grand Sword Bearer of the Grand Commandery Knights Templar of Ohio at the annual convocation held Friday and Saturday at Akron.

Ammer was installed along with the other Grand Officers by Ned E. Dull of Van Wert, Grand Captain General of the Grand Encampment of Knights Templar of the United States. The installation Saturday evening followed the Commandery banquet and awards presentation.

The Grand Sword Bearer is the third office in the ten office line of the Grand Commandery.

William D. Coffman of Toronto, Ohio, was elected Grand Commander for the ensuing year.

After serving as Commander of Scioto Commandery No. 35 in 1963, Ammer was appointed Fourth Division Commander in 1967. He continued in that position until his appointment to the Grand line in 1974 as Grand Sentinel.

Judge Ammer has served as presiding officer of the four local Masonic bodies. He is presently County Director, Valley of Columbus, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite. He is a member of Ohio Priory No. 18 Knights of the York Cross of Honor and a past District Deputy Grand High Priest, Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons.

Secret U.S. Arms System Sale Near To Israeli Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's decision to supply Israel with a major new infrared night-fighting system collides with long-standing opposition by U.S. military men who contend such advanced technology should be withheld from other countries.

In this case, it appears that only a few senior Pentagon officials knew in advance that approval would be given to sell the Israelis the system, which still is under development.

It was not known whether Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, or any other members of the JCS were consulted beforehand.

There were strong indications that disclosure of the agreement to provide Israel with additional weapons and other military equipment was premature. Word was dropped by Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon during a picture-taking session in Ford's office Monday and then confirmed by the White House.

State Department spokesman Robert L. Funseth described the new arms decision as routine and said it grew out of an "ongoing relationship" between the United States and Israel.

Pentagon sources said U.S. military men have opposed, with limited success, the provision of certain weapons and other gear representing advanced technology to Israel for fear it might fall into Arab hands in battle and then reach the Soviet Union.

American military men are especially anxious to safeguard technology that they believe gives the United States a head start of five to ten years over the Soviet Union.

The FLIR (acronym for Forward-Looking Infrared) system promised to Israel falls in this category, sources said.

FLIR uses heat-sensitive infrared sensors instead of radar to detect targets in the dark. Pilots of F4 and F111 fighterbombers will use it, together with laser-guided bombs and missiles, against tanks, bunkers, enemy aircraft and other targets.

One specialist, calling FLIR "spectacular," said target images shown on a screen in a plane's cockpit are as clearly visible as in daylight.

Unlike radar, such heat-sensing devices are jam-proof. Infrared sensors also are impervious to interference from dust clouds, such as might be stirred up in desert warfare.

The FLIR system reportedly will not be ready for installation on U.S. warplanes for several years. It is uncertain when the Israelis would get theirs.

Ford Pays More In Tax Than Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford paid a larger share of his income in taxes than did Jimmy Carter last year because Carter was able to take advantage of a tax benefit tied to improvements in his peanut operations.

A comparison of the financial information provided by the two presidential candidates showed that Ford reported gross income of $251,991 last year and Carter reported gross income of $136,139.

Ford paid total federal taxes of $94,569 in 1975, which was 38 per cent of his gross income. Carter paid taxes of $17,484, equal to 13 per cent of his gross income.

Carter was able to take advantage of a business investment tax credit to substantially reduce his taxes. He also took advantage of income-averaging features of the tax code to further reduce his taxes.

Carter has made public his tax returns from the last five years. Ford has not revealed his tax returns but has released a statement of his finances, including the amounts of tax he paid for the past 10 years.

The bulk of Carter's 1975 income, $119,244, was from his peanut-seed business, "Carter's Warehouse." He also reported $3,293 in income from his book, "Why Not The Best?"

Most of Ford's income, $200,000, was from his salary as president. He also got $50,000 from the presidential expense account.

Carter was able to reduce his taxes by claiming an investment tax credit of $41,702, equal to about 10 per cent of the $410,646 he spent for equipment for his peanut business.

While Carter has pledged to eliminate many tax shelters if elected, he says he probably would retain the investment tax credit as an incentive for business to invest.

Young Dems Set Hours For Headquarters

The Pickaway County Young Democrats met Wednesday evening to discuss upcoming events.

The Young Dems, along with other Pickaway County Democratic Organization volunteers, will have the Democratic Headquarters, located at 114 Watt St., open during the evening from 7 to 9 p.m. beginning tonight. Hours up to Pumpkin Show are closed Friday evening, open Saturday from noon until 7 p.m.; and Monday and Tuesday, 7 to 9 p.m. The headquarters will be open Pumpkin Show week 1 to 10 p.m.

In an earlier meeting, and with a second approval Wednesday evening, the Young Dems approved of an endorsed Issue 10 for a Better Berger Hospital.

On Saturday, Oct. 16, YD members are going to canvass Circleville and Pickaway County for Ted Strickland, Democratic candidate for the sixth Congressional District. Persons wishing to assist in the canvass or in manning the headquarters, should call Tom Tootle at 474-6021 or Bob Bensonhaver at 474-5565.

Young Dems will be providing taxi service on election day for persons who cannot drive to their respective polls to vote. Persons wishing that service should call in advance or on Nov. 2 at 477-1650, 477-1658 or 477-1659.

Young Dems is open to any Democrat between the ages of 16 and 36. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the Headquarters.

Columbus Man Dies After Shot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A terminally ill 34-year-old Columbus man has died after receiving a swine flu immunization shot, but his doctor and the county coroner stressed there was no apparent connection between the inoculation and his death.

Frank Hall, 34, of Columbus, died Tuesday night in his home. He had received the flu shot on Monday.

His physician, Dr. James Lewis, said Hall was a diabetic, was being treated with dialysis because of kidney failure and had severe cardiovascular disease.

Dr. William R. Adrien, Franklin County coroner, said he did not "think there was any relationship between the vaccine and his death."

Noting that Hall was one of the youngest persons known to have died after receiving the immunization shot, Adrien said, "This is the age that he was going to die whether he got the vaccine or not."

Dr. Thomas Halpin, chief of the state Health Department's bureau of preventative medicine, agreed with the other two physicians.

"There is no evidence the immunization was a factor," he said. "I'm sure the cause of death is going to be listed as diabetes or cardiovascular disease."

Halpin said the man's death will have no effect on the state's swine flu immunization efforts and urged counties to continue their inoculation programs.

Ford, Carter Seek ...

House lobbyist, was told to seek Ford's help in blocking the probe. Dean said, "I can recall Dick coming back and telling, for example, how Jerry (Ford) was going to call a meeting of the minority members ... and really tell them what they should do on the day of the vote and how they should hold together and things of this nature."

Cook, now a Lockheed Aircraft Corp. executive, said, "despite John Dean's repeated and frantic requests, I never spoke with Mr. Ford" about blocking the probe. Cook said, "There is no question in my mind that the President told the truth" at confirmation hearings.

Meanwhile, Jesse M. Calhoun, president of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, said Wednesday the relationship between his union and Ford "has been on the highest moral and ethical level."

Calhoun, subpoenaed in a grand jury probe of Ford's political finances, which was also launched by Ruff, said he has no reason to believe Ford misused donations from his union.

He said his union donated $12,000 to Ford's congressional races in 1968, 1970 and 1972, but that the union gave Ford no other funds.

Ruff has refused to comment on the probe, but sources say the investigation involves allegations that Ford converted political donations to his personal use.

In other developments, financial reports made public on Wednesday show that Ford had nearly twice as much money left in his campaign treasury than Jimmy Carter had as of Sept. 30.

The reports, filed with the Federal Election Commission, show Ford had $18.3 million left of the $21.8 million he is entitled to spend on the campaign, while Carter is down to $9.3 million.

Although this appears to indicate that Ford will have a spending advantage in the closing days of the campaign, the figures do not reflect money that may have been spent for media advertising that has not yet appeared, or for expenses for which bills have not been paid.

Local Man Arrested For Forgery

Circleville Police arrested a Circleville man and charged him with forgery and grand theft Wednesday.

According to the report, Ed Reeves, assistant manager at the Big Bear Store, 1180 N. Court St., called police at 6:34 p.m. and told them that a male subject was attempting to cash a check in the amount of $175. Reeves didn't think that the subject matched the description of the Colorado driver's license that he had showed for identification.

Ptl. William Pontious was dispatched to the scene. Upon questioning the subject he admitted that the driver's license was not his, and he also told Pontious that he had taken the blank check from a truck belonging to Herman Turnage, 323 Huston St. on Wednesday. Ptl. Pontious arrested the subject and charged him with forgery and grand theft. The subject was identified as James P. Williams, 19, of 586 E. Franklin St.

According to the report, after Williams had taken the blank check, he went to the home of a juvenile girl, and Williams and the girl allegedly affixed a false name and a picture of Williams to the driver's license of the girl's deceased mother. They then proceeded to the Big Bear Store and attempted to cash the check.

Williams was placed in city jail in lieu of $10,000 bond. He was scheduled to appear in Municipal Court this morning for a preliminary hearing. The 16 year old juvenile girl was placed in the Juvenile Detention Center in the Pickaway County jail.

ODLC Grants New Permits

Director Clifford E. Reich of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control today announced that 55 new liquor permits have been issued by the DLC.

In Pickaway County, a new permit was issued to Frances M. Duffy, doing business as Lazy Day Bait and Tackle, R. R. 2, State Route 56, in Five Points, Ohio. The village is located in Monroe Township. The permit is a C-1-2 license; C-1 permitting the sale of 3.2 per cent for carry out, and C-2 allowing the sale of high-powered beer and wine for carry-out.

A Pickaway County liquor license is being processed for transfer. Neil L. and Mary L. Merriman, doing business as South Court Market and Carry Out, seeks to transfer their license to Charles W. and Gayle Merriman, doing business as South Court Market and Carry Out, 640 South Court St. in Circleville. The permit is a C-1-2 license.

for today in an effort to persuade Americans the vaccine was safe.

Officials in Louisiana and Illinois on Wednesday ordered the resumption of their programs. Vermont authorities said immunizations would resume on Friday.

At least 33 elderly persons in 16 states — most with a history of heart trouble — are reported to have died after receiving the inoculations.

That includes three persons in the Pittsburgh area whose deaths Monday prompted nine states to suspend the program a day later.

Federal and state officials stress that there is no known connection between the $135-million vaccination program — which began Oct. 1 — and the deaths.

Other states where the program was halted were Alaska, Maine, Michigan, New Mexico, Texas — except Houston — and Wisconsin. There also were suspensions of the program in some areas of other states.

At least 21 states have yet to begin inoculations.

Food and Drug Administration officials said Wednesday they found no evidence in preliminary tests that a batch of swine flu vaccine used at a Pittsburgh-area clinic was responsible for the deaths there.

The FDA said it had completed tests of 35 vials of vaccine gathered from the Pittsburgh clinic and found no trace of foreign materials. FDA officials said they would run more tests on the samples' purity and potency in about a week.

Spokesmen for the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta repeated that "there is no evidence that the program should be curtailed in any way."

A spot check, however, showed a decrease in the number of persons lining up for shots.

In New York City, health officials said 10,000 persons showed up on Wednesday, compared with 20,000 who were inoculated Tuesday.

Pennsylvania officials said 12,803 persons were inoculated Wednesday, a drop of 11,000 from the day before. And in Florida, the director of the swine flu program in Dade County, the state's most populous, said the turnout was about one-fourth what it was on Tuesday, when more than 10,000 persons were vaccinated.

Public Meetings

THURSDAY

The Circleville Board of Education meets Thursday, 7:30 p.m. at the high school.

Circleville Board To Meet Tonight

The Circleville Board of Education is scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Board offices and the first floor of the Junior High School building.

Items on the agenda include the resignation of a night custodian and employment recommendations for two custodian positions.

The board will act on a resolution accepting the rate of the budget commission, and also on a list of personnel for college training reimbursement for nine staff members. Approval of one post graduate student is also slated for action.

The Board will discuss a milk price increase and consider approval to apply for funds under Title IV. Also to be acted on is approving the annual report to 16 pages.

The Board members will consider a revision of the appeal policy regarding the system's suspension and expulsion policy. Additions to the substitute teacher's list will be considered.

Also on the agenda is the revision of transportation payments to special classes in Columbus. The board will consider the approval for eight staff members to attend professional meetings.

The Board will act on an agreement with Brooks-Yates School for tuition payments. Procedures for Pumpkin Show dismissal will be acted on also.
